Abstracts

The global Baby Wash market size is predicted to grow from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million in 2031; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2025 to 2031.

The impact of the latest U.S. tariff measures and the corresponding policy responses from countries worldwide on market competitiveness, regional economic performance, and supply chain configurations will be comprehensively evaluated in this report.

When it comes to babies, Parents are regularly perturbed with getting the best commodity in the market and keeping everything right so that their child is risk free and sound. Baby wash products includes soap, shampoo, conditioner and wipes. Baby wash effectively cleanses baby?s skin and hair and protect the soft skin from infection. These products do not contain detrimental chemicals as they are applied on baby soft skin. These products are easy on skin, impart anti-bacterial effect, come in good scent and are not hard on baby?s skin. These features carry out the function of health and cleanliness as well as aroma. Moreover, there are many variety of flavors available in the baby wash product, which adds to their credibility and availability. They are also available in traditional stores to hypermarket, adding to comfort.

According to World Bank statistics, the global birth rate in 2021 was about 1.7%. Although the population growth rate had slowed down, with the development of the world economy and the increase of per capita disposable income of residents, the spending power is growing. Therefore, there is still a large room for development in the baby products industry. Improving product quality and tapping the value of a single customer will become the drivers for the growth of the infant and child industry. Refinement and diversification are the core characteristics of the consumer demand. China has a large population base, and even if the population growth rate slows down, there will still be a demographic dividend. The State Council in 2022 proposes to 'Guide market players to produce safer and healthier domestic infant products'. According to the National Bureau of Statistics, China's birth rate in 2022 was 6.77%, and the birth population was 9.56 million. According to the results of the seventh national census in 2021, the number of infants and young children aged 0-6 in China reached 140 million, of which the number of infants and young children aged 3-6 exceeded 70 million. The huge population size has brewed a market demand with huge potential, and the children's consumption market has risen rapidly. Chinese families spend a lot on childcare, with the average cost of childcare ranking second in the world. The survey data released by China Research Center for Children's Industry shows that in 80% of families in China, children's expenditures account for 30% to 50% of household expenditures, and the average annual consumption of children in families is ?17,000 to 25,500. According to data from the Yuwa Population Research, the national average cost of raising a child (the cost of raising a child to the age of 18) is ?485,218. From the perspective of specific stages, the largest proportion is the cost of raising children aged 6-14, accounting for about 45%. The cost during pregnancy, the cost of childbirth and confinement, and the cost of raising babies aged 0-2 accounted for 2.06%, 2.09% and 13.33% separately.
