Abstracts

The global Isoprenol Polyoxyethylene Ether (TPEG) market size is predicted to grow from US$ 1010 million in 2025 to US$ 1388 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.7% from 2026 to 2032.

In 2025, global sales volume of Isoprenol Polyoxyethylene Ether was approximately 890,000 tons, with a mainstream producer-level average price of about US$1,160 per ton. Gross margins of major manufacturers in the industry were generally around 12%–22%.

Isoprenol Polyoxyethylene Ether is an unsaturated polyether macromonomer produced through the ethoxylation of isoprenol with ethylene oxide as the main feedstock. It is commonly referred to in the industry as TPEG, iPEG, or isoprenol polyether macromonomer. The product features an unsaturated double-bond terminal group and a hydrophilic polyoxyethylene chain segment. Mainstream specifications include TPEG-2400 and TPEG-3000. Product quality is typically controlled by indicators such as average molecular weight, hydroxyl value, unsaturation degree, double-bond retention rate, moisture content, and color.

Isoprenol Polyoxyethylene Ether is mainly used in the production of polycarboxylate high-performance superplasticizers and serves as an important source of polyether side chains in the molecular structure of polycarboxylate superplasticizers. Through copolymerization with acrylic acid and other monomers, it can enhance the dispersing ability of superplasticizers on cement particles and improve the water-reducing rate, fluidity, and slump retention performance of concrete. Its upstream raw materials mainly include isoprenol, ethylene oxide, catalysts, and neutralizing agents, while downstream applications are concentrated in polycarboxylate superplasticizers, concrete admixtures,
