The global Recycled Polyester Threads market size is predicted to grow from US$ 148 million in 2025 to US$ 189 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 3.6% from 2026 to 2032.

Recycled polyester threads are fibers made from recycled plastic materials, primarily PET (polyethylene terephthalate) from sources like plastic bottles. By collecting, cleaning, and breaking down these plastics, manufacturers can convert the waste into new polyester fibers, which are then spun into threads. This process reduces the need for virgin polyester, a petroleum-based material, thus conserving resources and minimizing the environmental impact associated with plastic waste. Recycled polyester threads are widely used in textiles, apparel, and accessories, offering durability, strength, and performance comparable to traditional polyester, while supporting more sustainable practices.

United States market for Recycled Polyester Threads is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of % from 2026 through 2032.

China market for Recycled Polyester Threads is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of % from 2026 through 2032.
