Abstracts

Introduction

The report looks at onshore oil and gas activities in the UK. The report details the main upstream indicators of activity from drilling activity, expenditure through to production. Our data goes back to 2000 for most categories and forward to 2030 for production. It gives analysts and investors a concise guide to this important industry.

Features and benefits

Identify the onshore activity in the oil and gas industry by analyzing drilling activity and production from 2010 onwards.

Develop investment strategies through a review of key suppliers of upstream supplies and services

Highlights

Onshore oil and gas production in the UK declined at a CAGR of 11.2% over the 2000-09 period. The production is expected to decline at a CAGR of 3.1% over the 2009-30 period.

Onshore Capital Expenditure (Capex) accounted for a 75.3% share of the total onshore expenditure in 2009 in the UK, while Operational Expenditure (Opex) accounted for the remaining 24.7% share.

Your key questions answered

How much expenditure will be incurred both as operational and capital expenditure?

How are oil and gas production trends evolving from 2000 to 2030?

How will be trends in drilling activity?
