The global Surlyn Golf Balls market size is predicted to grow from US$ 803 million in 2025 to US$ 991 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 3.1% from 2026 to 2032.

Surlyn golf balls are golf balls with a cover made from Surlyn, a type of ionomer material known for its excellent durability and distance performance.

The market for Surlyn golf balls is driven by the demand for durable and long-distance golf balls. Surlyn covers are popular for their durability and resistance to scuffing and cutting, making them suitable for all skill levels of golfers. They are commonly used in two-piece golf ball construction, known for their distance and affordability. The market growth is influenced by the continuous need for high-quality and cost-effective golf balls. The demand for reliable and high-performance Surlyn golf balls contributes to the growth of this market.
