KEY HIGHLIGHTS

The footwear market consists of the total revenues generated through the sale of all types of men's, women's and children's shoes. It includes all footwear categories for men, women, boys and girls, but excludes sports-specific footwear.

The market is valued at retail selling price with any currency conversions calculated using constant annual average 2016 exchange rates.

The global footwear market is expected to generate total revenues of $314,649.9m in 2017, representing a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.5% between 2013 and 2017.

Italy has the second largest footwear market in Europe after Germany, which is largely thanks to the country's tradition of producing fashionable footwear.

As one of the more mature markets globally, the US footwear market has not and is unlikely to witness strong growth on par with levels seen in some Asia-Pacific countries, such as China or India. However, the market has been positively impacted by improving macroeconomic conditions, including falling unemployment levels and rising wages.
