DOTP, or dioctyl terephthalate (bis(2-ethylhexyl) terephthalate, di(ethylhexyl) terephthalate, etc.) is an organic compound with the molecular formula $C_{24}H_{38}O_4$. DOTP is a clear colorless viscous and odorless liquid with a bitter taste. Its boiling point is 400°C. The chemical is almost insoluble in water but soluble in acetone, ethanol, aromatic hydrocarbons.

DOTP shows heat and cold resistance, low volatility (DOTP can completely satisfy cable heat resistance level requirement), and good softness.

Diethyl terephthalate is the main PVC plasticizer used in heat-resistant cable material and other PVC soft products.

DOTP is applied in different industries mainly for cables, wires, freezers, doors and windows, PVC leather and floor, pipes production. Besides, it is the raw material for acrylonitrile derivatives, poly (vinyl alcohol) shrinkage, aldehydes, butyl rubber.

DOTP poses few health effects due to its comparatively low toxicity.

The chemical is mildly irritating to eyes. DOTP poses little to no skin effect and low probability of inhalation due to low vapour pressure and high viscosity of DOTP.

DOTP market is covered in the study DOTP (CAS 6422-86-2) Market Research Report 2025. The report encompasses proper description of the product, unveils application areas, and briefly summarizes patents in the sphere. It overlooks DOTP market situation, names manufacturers, suppliers as well as users. The report also provides current DOTP prices in the market.
