SUMMARY

A radio transmitter is an electronic device which, when connected to an antenna, produces an electromagnetic signal such as in radio and television broadcasting, two way communications or radar. Heating devices, such as a microwave oven, although of similar design, are not usually called transmitters, in that they use the electromagnetic energy locally rather than transmitting it to another location.

The global Radio Transmitter market is expected to reach xxx Million USD by 2025, with a CAGR of xx% from 2020 to 2025.
