SUMMARY

Creatine is a naturally-occurring amino acid (protein building block) that's found in meat and fish, and also made by the human body in the liver, kidneys, and pancreas. It is converted into creatine phosphate or phosphocreatine and stored in the muscles, where it is used for energy. During high-intensity, short-duration exercise, such as lifting weights or sprinting, phosphocreatine is converted into ATP, a major source of energy within the human body.

The report forecast global Creatine market to grow to reach xxx Million USD in 2020 with a CAGR of xx% during the period 2020-2025.

The report offers detailed coverage of Creatine industry and main market trends. The market research includes historical and forecast market data, demand, application details, price trends, and company shares of the leading Creatine by geography. The report splits the market size, by volume and value, on the basis of application type and geography.

First, this report covers the present status and the future prospects of the global Creatine market for 2015-2025.
