Abstracts

Bespoke units can be defined as a set of equipment that can be customized according to the needs or requirements of the customer. The customization can vary from color to outright drastic changes to the design of the unit such as dimensions, decals, and detailing. Bespoke are a common sight in commercial kitchens, large restaurant establishments, hotels, and canteens. Bespoke units apart from being esthetically pleasing are also functionally superior as they are customized for the buyers need.

The bespoke units market is primarily driven by rise in number of luxury food outlets, starred hotels, and large canteens. Moreover, diversification in culinary activities also drive the demand for bespoke units in the global market. However, high installation cost of such equipment hinders the market growth. On the contrary, technological advancements and innovations in terms of design coupled with usage of appropriate marketing techniques are expected to provide avenues of growth for this market. Bespoke pantries and larders have been the most popular options while designing custom commercial kitchens and has contributed to the growth of this market. In addition, customization around kitchens that resembles naked kitchen that is built around greenery has been quite popular.
