Abstracts

The global companion diagnostics market generated $1,678 million in 2018, and is projected to reach $6,452 million by 2026, growing at a CAGR of 18.3% from 2019 to 2026.

Companion diagnostic is a medical device, often an in-vitro device that provides information essential for the safe and effective use of a corresponding drug or biological product. These tests help a health care professional to determine patients who can benefit from a particular therapeutic product, identify patients at increased risk of severe side effects as a result of the treatment with a particular therapeutic product as well as achieve improved safety or effectiveness.

The companion diagnostics market is expected to experience significant growth during the forecast period owing to growth in demand for advanced therapies, rise in R&D activities to develop low cost & highly efficient drugs, increase in awareness in personalized medicines and surge in demand for cost effective diagnosis are some factors that majorly drive the market growth.

The global companion diagnostics market is segmented based on technology, indication, and region. Based on technology, the market is categorized as immunohistochemistry, polymerase chain reaction (PCR), next Generation Sequencing

(NGS), in situ hybridization, and others. On the basis of indication, it is segmented into oncology, neurology, and others. Oncology is further classified into lung cancer, colorectal cancer, breast cancer, blood cancer, and others. Based on region, the market is studied across North America (U.S., Canada, and Mexico), Europe (Germany, France, the UK, and rest of Europe), Asia-Pacific (China, Japan, Australia, and rest of Asia-Pacific), and LAMEA (Brazil, South Africa and rest of LAMEA).

KEY BENEFITS FOR STAKEHOLDERS

The study provides an in-depth analysis of the market along with the current trends and future estimations to elucidate the imminent investment pockets.

It offers a quantitative analysis from 2018 to 2026, which is expected to enable the stakeholders to capitalize on the prevailing market opportunities.
