Abstracts

Intraoral scanners are used by orthodontics to capture 3D images of the dentition and soft tissue of intraoral areas. The images obtained from intraoral scanners are of superior quality as compared to conventional methods, leading to high-quality treatment results.

The global intraocular lens market generated $273 million in 2016, and is projected to reach $557 million by 2023, registering a CAGR of 10.7% during the study period. In terms of volume, the market is expected to grow at a CAGR of 15.4%. The global intraoral scanners market is driven by increase in geriatric population and rise in the number of patients suffering from dental disorders. Moreover, benefits of intraoral scanners, such as ease of handling, lightweight, and high precision of images further boost the market growth. However, high cost of the devices and dearth of skilled professionals restrain the market growth.

The global intraoral scanners market is segmented on the basis of brand, end user, and region. Based on brand, it is divided into Cadent iTero, 3M ESPE Lava COS, CEREC, E4D, TRIOS, CS, and others. On the basis of end user, it is classified into hospitals, dental clinics and others. Region wise, it is analyzed across North America, Europe, Asia-Pacific, and LAMEA.

The key market players operating in this market include 3M Company, 3Shape A/S, Align Technology, Inc., Carestream Health Inc., Condor International, Densys3D Ltd., Dental Wings Inc., Dentsply Sirona Inc., Planmeca OY, and Guangdong Lanca Medical Device Technology Co. Ltd.

KEY BENEFITS FOR STAKEHOLDERS

The report provides an in-depth analysis of the parent market trends, macro-economic indicators, and governing factors.

The report provides an extensive analysis of the current trends, future estimations, and dynamics in the market from 2016 to 2023 that helps identify the upcoming market opportunities.

Extensive knowledge about the key market players and their strategies are provided in the report.

Comprehensive analysis of the factors that drive and restrain the market growth is provided.
