Global Tractor Market – Overview

Agriculture plays a vital role in the economic development and emerging countries; agriculture contributes to the secondary and tertiary sector to the GDP in the global market. The constant shift in dietary patterns is one of the primary factors attributing to the growth of the global tractor market. The increase in urbanization and deforestation is leading to the adoption of smart tech solutions to effectively mitigate the negative effects of agriculture and meet the growing global food demand. The introduction of various innovative agricultural equipment such as rotavators and combines will transform the global market. The increasing focus on the development of innovative infrastructure for optimal supply chain and growth of supplementing industries and agri-businesses will create lucrative opportunities vendors operating in the global market. The implementation of advanced technologies such as GPS and telematics is expected to result in increased productivity and efficiency in the agricultural industries across the world. The introduction of precision farming and growing demand for advanced technology will result in the evolution of the market. The end-users are using advanced machinery to overcome factors such as encroachment of forest land, indiscriminate water consumption and wastage, unscientific usage of pesticides, and fertilizers. The implementation of innovative agricultural equipment will help to achieve short-term productivity and remove additional constraints to the agricultural value chain. The introduction of farm mechanization will boost demand in the global tractor market.

The use of data derived from farm mechanization will help farmers to use actionable farm insights that can potentially save resources, labor costs, and yield high productivity in the global market. The presence of large-size farm structure and intensive farming practices in countries such as US, Brazil, Russia, and Western Europe will boost the demand for high power machinery in the global market. The global tractor market is projected to produce over 2.8 thousand units by 2023, growing at a CAGR of around 5% during 2017-2023.

Global Tractor Market – Dynamics

The rapid emergence of custom hiring center model will attribute to the growth of the global tractor market. The custom hiring of farm machinery refers to renting out of farm machinery for operators that cannot afford to invest in high-value machinery in the global market. The growing prominence of “pay as per use” model will boost the demand for innovative machinery in the global market. The establishment of custom hiring centers is an ideal scenario to increase farm mechanization and offer access to small farmers to expensive agriculture tractors and equipment at a reasonable price in the world market. The increasing availability of new technologies due to this rent model will encourage farmers to adopt resilient climate practices and sustainable technologies in the global tractor market. For instance, in India, custom hiring centers for farm implements were established in 100 National Innovations on Climate Resilient Agriculture villages that will successfully empower small farmers to improve agriculture operations.

Global Tractor Market - Segmentation

This market research report includes a detailed segmentation of the market by horsepower type, wheel drive, and geography.

Global Tractor Market – By Horsepower Type

Growing demand for semi-professional machinery in emerging countries to boost sales in the global tractor market

The global tractor market by horsepower type is segmented into 40 HP, 40-100 HP, 100+ HP, and 4 WD. Below 40 HP segment dominated more than 1/3rd of the market share in 2017, growing at a CAGR of approximately 5% during the forecast period. The growing demand for these low hp tractor in emerging countries as well as in developed nations such as the US is augmenting the growth of this segment in the global market. The growing popularity of semi-professional tractors among a customer base in small-scale agriculture farms and with the hobby farmers is creating lucrative opportunities for leading manufacturers in the global market. The cost-effectiveness of these machines is one of the primary factors contributing to the demand in the global tractor market. The boost in the agricultural sector across India, China, and parts of Africa will lead to the revolution of this segment in the global market during the forecast period.
