INTRODUCTION

Medical composite membrane mainly apply to medicine manufacturing industry, its development has positive correlation with medicine manufacturing industry development. As Chinese raised expense on public medical service system, for satisfying the demand of downstream medicine manufacturing industry, medical composite membrane industry invested more funds on technology research, in order to accelerate industry development.

As people have higher standard and higher quality requirements on food and medicine, medical composite membrane industry is quickly developing as well. Since government's "five-year project" and a series public medical industry reformation carry out, medical composite membrane industry will progress its technology to match food and medicine industries' needs. It is predictable that a new industrial expansion is coming on medical composite membrane industry.
