Proteins are often called the building blocks of the body. Protein consists of combinations of structures called amino acids that combine in various ways to make muscles, bone, tendons, skin, hair, and other tissues. They serve other functions as well including nutrient transportation and enzyme production. Athletes need protein primarily to repair and rebuild muscle that is broken down during exercise and to help optimize carbohydrate storage in the form of glycogen.

Compare to rest of the world, American are more willing to spend time and money on health & wellness foods and beverages. In 2014, protein supplement sales in U.S. was about $2,300 million, however, the rest of the world was about $1,800 million. In China, protein soft drinks market was still in deficiency.,
