Abstracts

Executive Summary

The Carpet Tiles market is driven by a recovering real estate industry and is dominated by the corporate segment which has the largest share amongst all the segments. Rising investments in real estate along with increasing occupancy in the office spaces has fuelled the growth of the market.

The Global carpet tiles market is growing at a slow pace. There is less awareness about the product among consumers across segments, except for corporate segment. The growth in market size has not been able to pick up beyond 6% CAGR in most regions and segments.

The growth rate is expected to decline slightly in the forecast period 2016-2021. This is expected as a result of slowing economic growth in China, the second largest economy, along with decline in growth of the high-income countries of North America and Europe post 2017. The global market is expected to be driven by Asia-Pacific and Middle East region.

As per the recently published research report "Global Carpet Tiles Market: Trends, Opportunities and Forecasts (2016-2021) - (By Value, By Region-North America,
