Abstracts

Urea formaldehyde resins production from UF concentrate provides a lot of advantages in manufacturing process. Concentrate is an available form of formaldehyde with highest concentrations.

Urea formaldehyde resins are used as wood adhesives for the production of particleboard and medium-density fiberboard (MDF).

The California Air Resources Board implemented strict limits on formaldehyde emissions from composite wood products. The restrictions affected urea formaldehyde resin use. UF resins remained the most consumed for particleboard and MDF manufacturing. Melamine-urea-formaldehyde (MUF) resins market will continue to grow. The main part of consumption is distributed between developing regions, such as Middle East, Central and Eastern Europe, and Central and South America, as the construction activity also continuing to grow in the region. The annual market growth of UF resins will be about 5%, and the most consuming industries are molded plastic, wood fiber and plywood.

Russia is a leading producer of Urea Formaldehyde Concentrate and UF Resins in CIS countries. Metafrax possesses the most significant capacity in the country. Moreover, there are a lot of enterprises producing UF resins in Russia. The main part of domestically consumed UF resins and concentrate in other CIS countries is imported, but there are some local producers in Ukraine, Belarus, Uzbekistan and others.
