About Affitech AS

Affitech A/S, a biopharmaceutical company, engages in the research and development of human antibody therapeutics in cancer and other unmet medical needs.

Therapeutic Antibodies

AT001 (R84) – This human antibody is a new selective inhibitor of cancer angiogenesis. The company has co-developed R84 with Peregrine Pharmaceuticals Inc, a U.S.-based biopharmaceutical company. The antibody is in preclinical development where it is undergoing various pharmacological and experimental studies.

AT002 (CBAS-173) – This is a human IgG1 antibody that targets a cell surface protein known as Activated Leukocyte Cell Adhesion Molecule (ALCAM or CD166). The potential therapeutic use of an anti-ALCAM antibody includes the treatment of cancer, autoimmune and inflammatory diseases. AT002 is in preclinical research undergoing studies in animals.

AT003 (EpCAM) – AT003 is a proprietary human antibody against EpCAM (Epithelial Cell Adhesion Molecule). AT003 is undergoing antibody validation.

AT004 and AT005 – AT004 and AT005 are in preclinical research. The company is collaborating with Peregrine Pharmaceuticals in developing these human antibodies which the company discovered, that are targeted against Phosphatidylserine, a phospholipid exposed on the surface of viral infected cells and certain cancer cells. The company's antibodies are improved second-generation human versions of bavituximab.

AT006 – AT006 is an antibody product candidate discovered by the company in collaboration with Roche against an undisclosed Roche proprietary cancer target. The product is being evaluated by Roche for development as part of a new and different approach to cancer treatment. The antibody is undergoing preclinical studies for efficacy and safety. These studies are conducted and funded by Roche.

AT007 – AT007 is an antibody candidate against a validated GPCR target identified by its CBAS technology. AT007 is undergoing antibody validation.

In addition, the company has a collaborative project with Omeros Corporation for the discovery and development of human antibodies against MASP-2 or mannan-binding lectin-associated serine protease-2. MASP-2 mediates activation of the complement system via the lectin pathway and is linked to multiple potential indications across a range of inflammatory diseases.

Protein L

Outside of its antibody therapeutics research and development programs, the company has also developed a validated antibody separation reagent known as Protein L for laboratory and commercial use in the field of production and purification of antibodies and antibody fragments. The company has been marketing this product towards the research field, and has formed an alliance with an international healthcare company for the commercialization of Protein L in the bulk antibody purification market.

Competition

The company identifies competition from Genentech and Roche.

ANALYSIS FEATURES

SWOT Analysis

SWOT, which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats, is an analytical framework that identifies the internal and external factors that are favorable and unfavorable for a company.

Enhanced SWOT Analysis

Enhanced SWOT is a 3x3 grid that arranges strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats into one scheme:

How to use the strengths to take advantage of the opportunities?

How to use the strengths to reduce likelihood and impact of the threats?

How to overcome the weaknesses that obstruct taking advantage of the opportunities?

How to overcome the weaknesses that can make the threats a reality?

Upon answering these questions a company can develop a project plan to improve its business performance.

PESTEL Analysis

PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business to later chart its long term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do the technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?

IFE, EFE, IE Matrices

The Internal Factor Evaluation matrix (IFE matrix) is a strategic management tool helping audit or evaluate major weaknesses and strengths in a business's functional areas. In addition, IFE matrix serves as a basis for identifying and assessing relationships amongst those areas. The IFE matrix is utilised in strategy formulation.

The External Factor Evaluation matrix (EFE matrix) is a tool of strategic management that is typically utilised to assess current market conditions. It is an ideal instrument for visualising and prioritising the threats and opportunities a firm is facing.

The essential difference between the above mentioned matrices lies in the type of factors incorporated in the model; whilst the latter is engaged in internal factors, the former deals exceptionally with external factors – those exposed to social, political, economic, legal, etc. external forces.

Being a continuation of the EFE matrix and IFE matrix models, the Internal External matrix (IE matrix) rests upon an investigation of external and internal business factors integrated into one suggestive model.

Porter Five Forces Analysis

The Porter's five forces analysis studies the industry of operation and helps the company find new sources of competitive advantage. The analysis surveys an industry through five major questions:

What composes a threat of substitute products and services?

Is there a threat of new competitors entering the market?

What is the intensity of competitive rivalry?

How big is the bargaining power of buyers?

How significant is the bargaining power of suppliers?

VRIO Analysis

VRIO stands for Value, Rarity, Imitability, Organization. This analysis helps to evaluate all company's resources and capabilities and bring them together into one aggregate table that includes:

Tangible resources

Financial

Physical

Technological

Organizational

Intangible resources

Human

Innovation and Creativity

Reputation

Organizational capabilities

The result of the analysis gives a clear picture of company's competitive and economic implications, answering the questions if the resources mentioned above are:

Valuable?

Rare?

Costly to imitate?

Organized properly?
