About Cardiome Pharma Corp.

Cardiome Pharma Corp., a life sciences company, focuses on developing drugs to treat or prevent cardiovascular diseases. The company's drug development activities are focused on the treatment of atrial arrhythmias; a Phase 1 program for GED-aPC, an engineered analog of human activated protein C; and a pre-clinical program directed at improving cardiovascular function.

Products in Development

Vernakalant for Atrial Fibrillation

Vernakalant is a new chemical entity designed to treat atrial fibrillation, with the potential to overcome the limitations of current drugs used to treat the disease. Its mechanism of action involves the selective blockade of multiple ion channels in the heart that are known to be active during episodes of atrial fibrillation. The drug is being developed for two potential applications: vernakalant, is being evaluated as an intravenous pharmacological converting agent designed to terminate an atrial fibrillation episode and return the heart to normal rhythm; and vernakalant (oral) is being evaluated as an oral maintenance therapy for the long-term prevention of atrial fibrillation recurrence.

Vernakalant

Vernakalant (oral) is being evaluated as an oral maintenance therapy for the long-term prevention of atrial fibrillation recurrence. Together with collaboration partners, Astellas, who has marketing rights to vernakalant in Canada, the United States and Mexico, and Merck, who has marketing rights to the rest of the world, the company involves in the development of vernakalant, a product candidate for the treatment of atrial fibrillation.

Astellas also conducted an open-label safety study in patients with atrial fibrillation, or ACT 4, in order to gather additional safety data, which has completed. In October 2009, Astellas initiated enrollment in a single confirmatory additional Phase 3 clinical trial, ACT 5. In December 2009, the company announced that the Phase 3 European comparator (AVRO) study was completed and met its primary endpoint.

Merck Collaboration

In April 2009, the company entered into a collaboration and license agreement with Merck & Co., Inc., or Merck, for the development and commercialization of vernakalant. The agreement provides an affiliate of Merck with global rights to vernakalant (oral) and exclusive rights outside of the United States, Canada and Mexico to vernakalant. The company has also retained an option to co-promote vernakalant (oral) with Merck through a hospital-based sales force in the United States.

Astellas Collaboration

The company, in October 2003, entered into a collaboration and license agreement with Astellas, a U.S. affiliate of Astellas Pharma Inc., a pharmaceutical company headquartered in Japan. The company granted Astellas a license to vernakalant and its related technology to develop, make, and sell intravenous or injectable formulations of vernakalant in North America for any and all indications, including the treatment of atrial fibrillation and atrial flutter, including a right to sublicense to third parties.

Competition

The company's competitors include Boston Scientific, Johnson & Johnson, Medtronic, Pfizer, Sanofi-Aventis, Astra Zeneca, Glaxo SmithKline and Novartis.

History

The company was founded in 1986. It was formerly known as Nortran Resources Ltd. and changed its name to Nortran Pharmaceuticals Inc. in 1992. Further, the company changed its name to Cardiome Pharma Corp. in 2001.

ANALYSIS FEATURES

SWOT Analysis

SWOT, which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats, is an analytical framework that identifies the internal and external factors that are favorable and unfavorable for a company.

Enhanced SWOT Analysis

Enhanced SWOT is a 3x3 grid that arranges strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats into one scheme:

How to use the strengths to take advantage of the opportunities?

How to use the strengths to reduce likelihood and impact of the threats?

How to overcome the weaknesses that obstruct taking advantage of the opportunities?

How to overcome the weaknesses that can make the threats a reality?

Upon answering these questions a company can develop a project plan to improve its business performance.

PESTEL Analysis

PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business to later chart its long term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do the technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?

IFE, EFE, IE Matrices

The Internal Factor Evaluation matrix (IFE matrix) is a strategic management tool helping audit or evaluate major weaknesses and strengths in a business's functional areas. In addition, IFE matrix serves as a basis for identifying and assessing relationships amongst those areas. The IFE matrix is utilised in strategy formulation.

The External Factor Evaluation matrix (EFE matrix) is a tool of strategic management that is typically utilised to assess current market conditions. It is an ideal instrument for visualising and prioritising the threats and opportunities a firm is facing.

The essential difference between the above mentioned matrices lies in the type of factors incorporated in the model; whilst the latter is engaged in internal factors, the former deals exceptionally with external factors – those exposed to social, political, economic, legal, etc. external forces.

Being a continuation of the EFE matrix and IFE matrix models, the Internal External matrix (IE matrix) rests upon an investigation of external and internal business factors integrated into one suggestive model.

Porter Five Forces Analysis

The Porter's five forces analysis studies the industry of operation and helps the company find new sources of competitive advantage. The analysis surveys an industry through five major questions:

What composes a threat of substitute products and services?

Is there a threat of new competitors entering the market?

What is the intensity of competitive rivalry?

How big is the bargaining power of buyers?

How significant is the bargaining power of suppliers?

VRIO Analysis

VRIO stands for Value, Rarity, Imitability, Organization. This analysis helps to evaluate all company's resources and capabilities and bring them together into one aggregate table that includes:

Tangible resources

Financial

Physical

Technological

Organizational

Intangible resources

Human

Innovation and Creativity

Reputation

Organizational capabilities

The result of the analysis gives a clear picture of company's competitive and economic implications, answering the questions if the resources mentioned above are:

Valuable?

Rare?

Costly to imitate?

Organized properly?
