About Fortress Investment Group LLC

Fortress Investment Group LLC operates as a global investment manager specializing in alternative assets. The company's alternative investment products include private equity funds, hedge funds and publicly traded alternative investment vehicles. The company is an asset-based investment management firm.

FUNDS

Private Equity Funds

The company's private equity business is made up of a series of funds named the 'Fortress Investment Funds' and organized to make control-oriented investments in cash flow generating, asset-based businesses in North America and Western Europe, with a focus on acquiring and building asset-based businesses with significant cash flows. The company manages two smaller 'long dated value' funds focused on investing in undervalued assets with limited cash flows and long investment horizons.

Fortress Investment Funds: The company has raised four diversified private equity funds and a series of co-investment funds, from institutional investors and net worth individuals. Its funds have acquired assets and asset-based businesses in 76 transactions. The fortress investment funds seek to generate 20% annual net returns to investors and to return at least two times invested capital. Its funds have averaged 40.0% annualized net returns through September 30, 2006 while at the same time minimizing investment loss. Sectors within which the company's private equity funds have been active investors include financial services, residential and commercial real estate, senior living, transportation and media/telecommunications.

Long Dated Value Funds: The company's private equity fund product, the Long Dated Value family of funds, focuses on making investments with long dated cash flows. Its investments include rent-stabilized apartment portfolios, residual interests in power plants and oil and gas royalty interests. The long dated value funds are generally similar in structure to the Fortress Investment Fund family of funds.

Hedge Funds

The company creates and manages hedge fund investment products. Hedge funds, a business that manages AUM comprised of two business segments - hybrid hedge funds, which makes diversified investments globally in undervalued and distressed assets, including loans, assets and corporate securities; and liquid hedge funds – which invests globally in fixed income, currency, equity and commodity markets and related derivatives to capitalize on imbalances in the financial markets.

Hybrid Hedge Funds: The hybrid hedge funds investment opportunities are found outside the broker-dealer mediated channels, in which investments that are priced and intermediated by financial institutions are typically presented to the private investment fund community. The company has developed a proprietary network comprised of internal and external resources to source transactions for the funds. The funds are able to invest in various financial instruments, ranging from loans to pools of assets and receivables.

Drawbridge Special Opportunities Funds: The drawbridge special opportunities funds form the core of the company's hybrid hedge fund investing strategy. The drawbridge special opportunities funds make investments. The funds acquire a portfolio of investments primarily throughout the United States, Western Europe and the Pacific region. The funds' investment program incorporates three investment strategies, focusing on asset-based transactions, loans and corporate securities.

The funds acquire and participate in various yield real estate and corporate loans. Asset-based transactions include the acquisition of portfolios of commercial and consumer based tangible assets from undervalued or financially troubled companies, and market purchases of distressed asset-backed securities. The funds also acquire debt and equity securities of companies that are in distress, default or bankruptcy. The majority of the funds' investments are illiquid, and the funds generally make investments.

Fortress Partners Funds: The company's 'The Fortress Partners Funds' investments are made both in Fortress Funds and in funds managed by other managers, and in direct investments that are sourced either by

ANALYSIS FEATURES

SWOT Analysis

SWOT, which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats, is an analytical framework that identifies the internal and external factors that are favorable and unfavorable for a company.

Enhanced SWOT Analysis

Enhanced SWOT is a 3x3 grid that arranges strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats into one scheme:

How to use the strengths to take advantage of the opportunities?

How to use the strengths to reduce likelihood and impact of the threats?

How to overcome the weaknesses that obstruct taking advantage of the opportunities?

How to overcome the weaknesses that can make the threats a reality?

Upon answering these questions a company can develop a project plan to improve its business performance.

PESTEL Analysis

PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business to later chart its long term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do the technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?

IFE, EFE, IE Matrices

The Internal Factor Evaluation matrix (IFE matrix) is a strategic management tool helping audit or evaluate major weaknesses and strengths in a business's functional areas. In addition, IFE matrix serves as a basis for identifying and assessing relationships amongst those areas. The IFE matrix is utilised in strategy formulation.

The External Factor Evaluation matrix (EFE matrix) is a tool of strategic management that is typically utilised to assess current market conditions. It is an ideal instrument for visualising and prioritising the threats and opportunities a firm is facing.

The essential difference between the above mentioned matrices lies in the type of factors incorporated in the model; whilst the latter is engaged in internal factors, the former deals exceptionally with external factors – those exposed to social, political, economic, legal, etc. external forces.

Being a continuation of the EFE matrix and IFE matrix models, the Internal External matrix (IE matrix) rests upon an investigation of external and internal business factors integrated into one suggestive model.

Porter Five Forces Analysis

The Porter's five forces analysis studies the industry of operation and helps the company find new sources of competitive advantage. The analysis surveys an industry through five major questions:

What composes a threat of substitute products and services?

Is there a threat of new competitors entering the market?

What is the intensity of competitive rivalry?

How big is the bargaining power of buyers?

How significant is the bargaining power of suppliers?

VRIO Analysis

VRIO stands for Value, Rarity, Imitability, Organization. This analysis helps to evaluate all company's resources and capabilities and bring them together into one aggregate table that includes:

Tangible resources

Financial

Physical

Technological

Organizational

Intangible resources

Human

Innovation and Creativity

Reputation

Organizational capabilities

The result of the analysis gives a clear picture of company's competitive and economic implications, answering the questions if the resources mentioned above are:

Valuable?

Rare?

Costly to imitate?

Organized properly?
