About Genoptix, Inc.

Genoptix, Inc. provides specialized laboratory services. The company focuses on delivering personalized diagnostic services to community-based hematologists and oncologists, or hem/oncs. Its service offerings, COMPASS and CHART, are specifically designed to address the unmet needs of community-based hem/oncs. The company's COMPASS service offering includes the determination by its hempaths of the appropriate diagnostic tests to be conducted and the performance of these tests. It evaluates, synthesizes and summarizes the results into a report. The company's CHART service offering combines multiple COMPASS assessments and analyses of disease progression after intervening clinical action, providing the hem/onc with a diagnostic tool to track both a patient's disease and response to the prescribed treatment regimen.

Services

The company's diagnostic services and non-proprietary technologies, each of which include professional interpretation by its hempaths and utilize instrumentation operated by trained personnel, can be ordered individually or, for hematological malignancies, as part of its COMPASS or CHART service offerings: Histopathology, a microscopic evaluation of blood or bone marrow material to identify the nature and extent of disease; Flow

Cytometry, a quantitative method to characterize the maturation level of cells and measure the type and amount of leukemia/lymphoma via automated assessment of cellular surface characteristics; Cytogenetics, a suite of methods designed to reveal changes and/or abnormalities at the level of the chromosome to identify malignant processes and to assist in the prognosis of a malignancy; Molecular, a quantitative method to follow progression of disease and response to therapy at the genetic level (DNA and RNA); and CTC, including identification and enumeration of tumor cells circulating in the blood of metastatic breast, colon, and prostate cancer patients.

Significant Events

On February 25, 2010, the company announced that it would participate in Aetna Inc.'s national provider network to offer specialized laboratory and diagnostic services designed to optimize the care of patients suffering from hematological malignancies, or cancers of the blood and bone marrow, including leukemia and lymphoma.

Customers

The company serves governmental payors, such as Medicare and Medicaid; private insurers, including managed care organizations; and private payors, such as hospitals, patients, and others for the specialized diagnostic services rendered to its hem/onc customers. The company provides specialized testing services and access to its hempaths through collaborations with select pharmaceutical companies.

Competition

The company's competitors include Genzyme Corporation, Quest Diagnostics Incorporated, Laboratory Corporation of America and Bio-Reference Laboratories, Inc.

History

Genoptix, Inc. was founded in 1999.

ANALYSIS FEATURES

SWOT Analysis

SWOT, which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats, is an analytical framework that identifies the internal and external factors that are favorable and unfavorable for a company.

Enhanced SWOT Analysis

Enhanced SWOT is a 3x3 grid that arranges strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats into one scheme:

How to use the strengths to take advantage of the opportunities?

How to use the strengths to reduce likelihood and impact of the threats?

How to overcome the weaknesses that obstruct taking advantage of the opportunities?

How to overcome the weaknesses that can make the threats a reality?

Upon answering these questions a company can develop a project plan to improve its business performance.

PESTEL Analysis

PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business to later chart its long term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do the technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?

IFE, EFE, IE Matrices

The Internal Factor Evaluation matrix (IFE matrix) is a strategic management tool helping audit or evaluate major weaknesses and strengths in a business's functional areas. In addition, IFE matrix serves as a basis for identifying and assessing relationships amongst those areas. The IFE matrix is utilised in strategy formulation.

The External Factor Evaluation matrix (EFE matrix) is a tool of strategic management that is typically utilised to assess current market conditions. It is an ideal instrument for visualising and prioritising the threats and opportunities a firm is facing.

The essential difference between the above mentioned matrices lies in the type of factors incorporated in the model; whilst the latter is engaged in internal factors, the former deals exceptionally with external factors – those exposed to social, political, economic, legal, etc. external forces.

Being a continuation of the EFE matrix and IFE matrix models, the Internal External matrix (IE matrix) rests upon an investigation of external and internal business factors integrated into one suggestive model.

Porter Five Forces Analysis

The Porter's five forces analysis studies the industry of operation and helps the company find new sources of competitive advantage. The analysis surveys an industry through five major questions:

What composes a threat of substitute products and services?

Is there a threat of new competitors entering the market?

What is the intensity of competitive rivalry?

How big is the bargaining power of buyers?

How significant is the bargaining power of suppliers?

VRIO Analysis

VRIO stands for Value, Rarity, Imitability, Organization. This analysis helps to evaluate all company's resources and capabilities and bring them together into one aggregate table that includes:

Tangible resources

Financial

Physical

Technological

Organizational

Intangible resources

Human

Innovation and Creativity

Reputation

Organizational capabilities

The result of the analysis gives a clear picture of company's competitive and economic implications, answering the questions if the resources mentioned above are:

Valuable?

Rare?

Costly to imitate?

Organized properly?
