About GSI Commerce Inc.

GSI Commerce, Inc. provides e-commerce and interactive marketing services to businesses that sell products directly to consumers (b2c).

The company provides services to approximately 500 retailers and brands, including 7 for all Mankind; Aeropostale; American Eagle Outfitters, Avis, Bath & Body Works, British Airways, Calvin Klein, Christopher & Banks, Cole Haan, Dell, Dick's Sporting Goods, Estee Lauder, Expedia, HP, Major League Baseball, the NFL, Philips, Publishers Clearing House, RalphLauren.com, Sports Authority, The TJX Companies, Tory Burch, Toys 'R' Us, Tumi, Warnaco, and the Washington Post Newspapers, Inc. .

Segments

The company operates in three business segments: e-Commerce Services, Interactive Marketing Services, and Consumer Engagement.

E-COMMERCE SERVICES

The company provides e-commerce services domestically and internationally that enable b2c companies to operate e-commerce and multichannel retailing businesses.

Its services include a suite of Web and e-commerce technologies, fulfillment and customer care / call center services. The company offers components of these services as part of an integrated e-commerce platform, as well as on a modular basis. Additionally, its e-commerce services include technical Web and e-commerce development services, buying services, value-added fulfillment services, and third-party services the company resells to its clients. The company provides e-commerce services to clients that manage their own inventory and to clients for which the company purchases and owns the inventory.

Technology Services

The company builds and operates its clients' Web stores using its proprietary, hosted e-commerce software solution, which enables an online shopping experience tailored to its clients' brands. This solution includes a set of configurable features and functions, such as product presentation, merchandising, shopping cart, and checkout, that enable the buying and selling of products online. On a selective basis, the company also integrates specialized, third-party software applications into its solution.

The company provides its clients with proprietary Web store management tools to manage their Web store's administration, product and catalog content and reporting. These tools help clients to create and manage product categories, marketing and descriptive content, product images, advertisements and promotions, merchandising, inventory, cross-selling and up-selling, and search capabilities.

The company provides hosting services for its clients' Web stores and related systems. These services are hosted in two data centers, which are co-located with a third-party telecommunications company. The company also manages and monitors the operations and infrastructure of these data centers.

The company manages various aspects of orders placed through its clients' Web stores through its order management and processing system, including credit card payments, alternative payments, private-label credit cards, promotions, gift card purchase and redemption, shipping fees, taxes, and other service fees, such as for gift wrapping.

The company also provides its clients with continuous access to a Web-based, analytics portal with reporting and analytical capabilities, including demand, merchandising, marketing, click stream, and Web metrics.

Fulfillment and Drop Shipping Services

The company offers a range of order fulfillment services through seven fulfillment centers — five in the U.S., one in Canada, and one in Europe. The company's fulfillment centers support multi-category, b2c requirements and can be used as a part of an integrated offering with its Web Store technologies and customer care and call center operations or utilized as a module integrated with a client's third party applications and operations. The company also integrates with and manages a network of approximately 750 third-party, drop-ship vendors, as well as with certain clients who perform their own fulfillment. It also processes orders and provides fulfillment for clients that directly market products through television advertisements (infomercials), the Web and over the telephone and provide

ANALYSIS FEATURES

SWOT Analysis

SWOT, which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats, is an analytical framework that identifies the internal and external factors that are favorable and unfavorable for a company.

Enhanced SWOT Analysis

Enhanced SWOT is a 3x3 grid that arranges strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats into one scheme:

How to use the strengths to take advantage of the opportunities?

How to use the strengths to reduce likelihood and impact of the threats?

How to overcome the weaknesses that obstruct taking advantage of the opportunities?

How to overcome the weaknesses that can make the threats a reality?

Upon answering these questions a company can develop a project plan to improve its business performance.

PESTEL Analysis

PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business to later chart its long term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do the technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?

IFE, EFE, IE Matrices

The Internal Factor Evaluation matrix (IFE matrix) is a strategic management tool helping audit or evaluate major weaknesses and strengths in a business's functional areas. In addition, IFE matrix serves as a basis for identifying and assessing relationships amongst those areas. The IFE matrix is utilised in strategy formulation.

The External Factor Evaluation matrix (EFE matrix) is a tool of strategic management that is typically utilised to assess current market conditions. It is an ideal instrument for visualising and prioritising the threats and opportunities a firm is facing.

The essential difference between the above mentioned matrices lies in the type of factors incorporated in the model; whilst the latter is engaged in internal factors, the former deals exceptionally with external factors – those exposed to social, political, economic, legal, etc. external forces.

Being a continuation of the EFE matrix and IFE matrix models, the Internal External matrix (IE matrix) rests upon an investigation of external and internal business factors integrated into one suggestive model.

Porter Five Forces Analysis

The Porter's five forces analysis studies the industry of operation and helps the company find new sources of competitive advantage. The analysis surveys an industry through five major questions:

What composes a threat of substitute products and services?

Is there a threat of new competitors entering the market?

What is the intensity of competitive rivalry?

How big is the bargaining power of buyers?

How significant is the bargaining power of suppliers?

VRIO Analysis

VRIO stands for Value, Rarity, Imitability, Organization. This analysis helps to evaluate all company's resources and capabilities and bring them together into one aggregate table that includes:

Tangible resources

Financial

Physical

Technological

Organizational

Intangible resources

Human

Innovation and Creativity

Reputation

Organizational capabilities

The result of the analysis gives a clear picture of company's competitive and economic implications, answering the questions if the resources mentioned above are:

Valuable?

Rare?

Costly to imitate?

Organized properly?
