About Hudson Holding Corporation

Hudson Holding Corporation, through its subsidiaries, operates as a registered broker-dealer of securities in the United States. The company's wholly owned subsidiaries include Hudson Securities, Inc. (Hudson), Hudson Technologies, Inc. (Technologies), and Spark Capital Management, LLC (Spark).

Hudson is a registered broker-dealer. Technologies provides software development and technology services for Hudson and for third parties. Spark is the investment manager of the Spark Fund, a hedge fund.

The company operates as an independent market maker firm allocated to meeting the liquidity needs of clients: institutions, hedge funds, asset managers, and broker dealers, by providing execution solutions and making markets in approximately 15,000 U.S. and foreign securities and ADRs. It provides its customers with order executions.

In March 2010, the company announced the acquisition of the equity research, asset management and investment banking business of Next Generation Equity Research, LLC (Next Generation), a Chicago based equity research boutique focused on the needs of institutional investors.

Customers

The company's customers are firms that require liquidity to complete stock trades, funds whose investment decisions call for shifts into or out of certain stocks; retail customers; professional traders who want to establish or liquidate their positions; and other retail brokerage firms whose individual investor clients wish to buy or sell securities.

Markets

The company focuses on attracting orders from retail brokerage firms and buy-side institutions, such as mutual funds, hedge funds and trusts. It targets retail brokers and institutions that require order executions for various stocks, from traded issues of S&P 500 and NASDAQ 100 companies to less liquid securities, such as NASDAQ Small-Cap, Bulletin Board, and Pink Sheet stocks.

Competition

The company competes with Knight Trading Group and UBS Securities.

History

Hudson Holding Corporation was founded in 1984.

ANALYSIS FEATURES

SWOT Analysis

SWOT, which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats, is an analytical framework that identifies the internal and external factors that are favorable and unfavorable for a company.

Enhanced SWOT Analysis

Enhanced SWOT is a 3x3 grid that arranges strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats into one scheme:

How to use the strengths to take advantage of the opportunities?

How to use the strengths to reduce likelihood and impact of the threats?

How to overcome the weaknesses that obstruct taking advantage of the opportunities?

How to overcome the weaknesses that can make the threats a reality?

Upon answering these questions a company can develop a project plan to improve its business performance.

PESTEL Analysis

PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business to later chart its long term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do the technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?

IFE, EFE, IE Matrices

The Internal Factor Evaluation matrix (IFE matrix) is a strategic management tool helping audit or evaluate major weaknesses and strengths in a business's functional areas. In addition, IFE matrix serves as a basis for identifying and assessing relationships amongst those areas. The IFE matrix is utilised in strategy formulation.

The External Factor Evaluation matrix (EFE matrix) is a tool of strategic management that is typically utilised to assess current market conditions. It is an ideal instrument for visualising and prioritising the threats and opportunities a firm is facing.

The essential difference between the above mentioned matrices lies in the type of factors incorporated in the model; whilst the latter is engaged in internal factors, the former deals exceptionally with external factors – those exposed to social, political, economic, legal, etc. external forces.

Being a continuation of the EFE matrix and IFE matrix models, the Internal External matrix (IE matrix) rests upon an investigation of external and internal business factors integrated into one suggestive model.

Porter Five Forces Analysis

The Porter's five forces analysis studies the industry of operation and helps the company find new sources of competitive advantage. The analysis surveys an industry through five major questions:

What composes a threat of substitute products and services?

Is there a threat of new competitors entering the market?

What is the intensity of competitive rivalry?

How big is the bargaining power of buyers?

How significant is the bargaining power of suppliers?

VRIO Analysis

VRIO stands for Value, Rarity, Imitability, Organization. This analysis helps to evaluate all company's resources and capabilities and bring them together into one aggregate table that includes:

Tangible resources

Financial

Physical

Technological

Organizational

Intangible resources

Human

Innovation and Creativity

Reputation

Organizational capabilities

The result of the analysis gives a clear picture of company's competitive and economic implications, answering the questions if the resources mentioned above are:

Valuable?

Rare?

Costly to imitate?

Organized properly?
