About Monster Worldwide, Inc.

Monster Worldwide, Inc. offers online employment solutions primarily in North America, Europe, Asia, and Latin America.

Segments

The company operates in three segments: Careers — North America; Careers — International; and Internet Advertising and Fees.

Careers (North America and International) segment

The company provides online employment solutions in approximately 50 countries worldwide. It works by connecting employers with job seekers at various levels and by providing searchable jobs and career management resources online. The company's services and solutions include searchable job postings, a resume database, recruitment media solutions throughout its network and other career-related content. Job seekers can search its job postings and post their resumes on each of its career websites. It also offers premium career services at a fee to job seekers, such as resume writing and a resume distribution service. Employers and human resources companies pay to post jobs, search its resume database, and utilize career site hosting and other services.

Internet Advertising and Fees segment

The Internet Advertising and Fees segment provides consumers with content, services, and offerings that help them manage the development and direction of their careers, while providing employers, educators, and marketers with media-driven solutions to impact these consumers at critical moments in their lives. Internet Advertising and Fees segment offers three types of services: lead generation, display advertising, and products sold to consumers for a fee. The company's customer categories are employers, schools, and consumer products and services. Employers use its media solutions to attract job seekers to job postings and to help job seekers better understand what it is like to work for a particular employer. Schools find its advertising and lead generation services to be tools in attracting students to investigate enrollment in higher education programs. Marketers of various consumer products and services categories, including automotive, telecommunications, apparel and entertainment use its solutions to provide targeted solutions to connect with specific consumer segments.

Customers

The company's customers include individuals, small and medium-sized organizations, enterprise organizations, federal, state and local government agencies, and educational institutions.

ANALYSIS FEATURES

SWOT Analysis

SWOT, which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats, is an analytical framework that identifies the internal and external factors that are favorable and unfavorable for a company.

Enhanced SWOT Analysis

Enhanced SWOT is a 3x3 grid that arranges strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats into one scheme:

How to use the strengths to take advantage of the opportunities?

How to use the strengths to reduce likelihood and impact of the threats?

How to overcome the weaknesses that obstruct taking advantage of the opportunities?

How to overcome the weaknesses that can make the threats a reality?

Upon answering these questions a company can develop a project plan to improve its business performance.

PESTEL Analysis

PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business to later chart its long term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do the technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?

IFE, EFE, IE Matrices

The Internal Factor Evaluation matrix (IFE matrix) is a strategic management tool helping audit or evaluate major weaknesses and strengths in a business's functional areas. In addition, IFE matrix serves as a basis for identifying and assessing relationships amongst those areas. The IFE matrix is utilised in strategy formulation.

The External Factor Evaluation matrix (EFE matrix) is a tool of strategic management that is typically utilised to assess current market conditions. It is an ideal instrument for visualising and prioritising the threats and opportunities a firm is facing.

The essential difference between the above mentioned matrices lies in the type of factors incorporated in the model; whilst the latter is engaged in internal factors, the former deals exceptionally with external factors – those exposed to social, political, economic, legal, etc. external forces.

Being a continuation of the EFE matrix and IFE matrix models, the Internal External matrix (IE matrix) rests upon an investigation of external and internal business factors integrated into one suggestive model.

Porter Five Forces Analysis

The Porter's five forces analysis studies the industry of operation and helps the company find new sources of competitive advantage. The analysis surveys an industry through five major questions:

What composes a threat of substitute products and services?

Is there a threat of new competitors entering the market?

What is the intensity of competitive rivalry?

How big is the bargaining power of buyers?

How significant is the bargaining power of suppliers?

VRIO Analysis

VRIO stands for Value, Rarity, Imitability, Organization. This analysis helps to evaluate all company's resources and capabilities and bring them together into one aggregate table that includes:

Tangible resources

Financial

Physical

Technological

Organizational

Intangible resources

Human

Innovation and Creativity

Reputation

Organizational capabilities

The result of the analysis gives a clear picture of company's competitive and economic implications, answering the questions if the resources mentioned above are:

Valuable?

Rare?

Costly to imitate?

Organized properly?
