About Olea Australis Ltd.

Olea Australis Limited (the company) operates as an integrated olive oil company. Its brands include Ultra Premium Extra Virgin Olive Oil and Dandaragan Estate. In Australia, the company's retail products are distributed by Manassen Foods; and its food service products are distributed by Olea's sales staff, with representation in western Australia, new south Wales, and Victoria. The company exports its products to the United Kingdom, Brazil, and Hong Kong.

The economic entity operates predominantly in three segments: processing and marketing; olive plantation operations; and management services. The processing and marketing operation processes the fruit, packs and markets extra virgin olive oil. The olive plantation operation comprises the growing, harvesting and sale of olives from entity-owned groves. The management services operation involves the sale of a range of management services to external owners of olive groves, including consultancy, orchard development, tree supply, farm management, land rental, irrigation infrastructure, harvesting and sale of fruit.

Principal Activities

During the year ended 30 June 2003, the principal activities of the consolidated entity were: Management of the Olea Australis Projects Stage I and Stage II as the responsible entity representing 221 hectares of olive trees; Management of the consolidated entity's olive trees representing 164 hectares; The launch of an ultra premium extra virgin olive oil into the Australian retail and food service market during The construction and commissioning of an olive processing facility; and The continuation of the strategy to develop a fully integrated global olive oil group.

The Group already has at its Dandaragan plantation over 385 hectares of olive trees planted in a high-density state of the art plantation.

The food grade processing facility consists of a 498m² building divided in to three main operating sections; fruit receipt, olive processing and oil storage.

This facility will allow the Group to completely control its production process and extract efficiencies from the full integration of its plantation, processing, storage, and packaging facilities. In addition the facility will act as a contract processor for the Moore River area of Western Australia, which currently has approximately of 800,000 trees planted. The Group has arrangements in place to contract process all the olives from the larger projects in the Moore River region.

Olea Groves

The Olea Olive Groves represent the very latest in Olive grove design with 215,000 trees planted over 385 hectares. Olea's groves are located at Dandaragan in the heart of the Moore River region, where over 750,000 trees have been planted making it one of Australia's major olive growing regions. Dandaragan is ideally situated in the Southern Hemisphere olive growing band and is the same distance from the equator as the premier growing areas of the Mediteranean.

Olea has planted 7 varieties of olive trees and through careful varietal selection, is not only able to produce oil of the highest quality but ensure optimum cross pollination and extended harvesting windows. Trees are planted on 6 metre by 3 metre spacings equivalent to 555 trees per hectare thereby maximising yield per unit of area. Trees are pruned to accommodate overhead straddle harvesters which have a reaping capacity three times that of conventional central shaking harvesters and are also able to be used on much younger trees.
