About Online Resources Corp.

Online Resources Corporation provides outsourced, web- and phone-based financial technology services to financial institution, biller, card issuer, and creditor clients to fulfill banking and payment services.

Markets

The company offers products and services to two primary vertical markets: Banking Services and e-Commerce Services.

Banking Services: The company, for banks, credit unions and other depository financial institutions, provides electronic bill payment and online banking services. Its online banking products include an integrated suite of web-based account presentation, payment, relationship management and professional services. With Online Resources' services, a financial institution's web site enables its business and consumer end-users to consolidate information from multiple accounts and make bill payments to billers, merchants, or individuals, via their financial institution's Web site.

e-Commerce Services: For billers, card issuers and credit providers, the company provides web- and phone-based account presentation, payment, relationship management, and professional services. It enables consumer and business end-users to manage their account or make a payment to a single card issuer, credit provider or biller.

Services

Account Presentation Services: The company offers account presentation services to financial institutions and card issuers. These services provide a set of online capabilities that allow end-users to: view transaction histories and account balances; review and retrieve current and past statements; transfer funds and balances; initiate or schedule either one-time or recurring payments; access and maintain account information; and perform self-service administrative functions.

The company also offers financial institution clients various complementary services. It provides these clients with two types business banking services, a full cash management service intended for larger end-users and a basic business offering intended for small business end-users. Money HQ allows end-users to obtain account information from multiple financial institutions, view bills, transfer money between accounts at multiple financial institutions, make person-to-person payments, and receive alerts without leaving their financial institution's web site.

The company also offers mobile access, check images, check reorder, Quicken interface, statement presentment and other functionality that enhances its solution. Account presentment is also protected by multi-factor security solutions.

Payments Services: For financial institution clients, the company's web-based bill payment services may be bundled with account presentation services or purchased as a stand-alone service integrated with a third-party account presentation solution.

For biller clients, the company provides a suite of payment options, including consolidation of incoming payments made by credit cards, signature debit cards, ACH and PIN-less debit via multiple access points such as online, IVR, or call center customer service representatives. The suite also includes bill presentment, convenience payments, and flexible payment scheduling. The company also provides web-based collections support product that allows biller clients to direct past due end-users to a specialized website where they can review account balances, set up payment plans and make payments.

For credit card clients, the company offers the ability to schedule either one-time or recurring payments to the provider through account presentation software.

For other large billers and payment acquirers, the company provides real-time account debit services via EFT gateway, enabling them to obtain funds eliminating the risk of non-sufficient funds.

Relationship Management Services: Relationship management services consist of the customer care services that the company maintains for financial institution and biller clients, and the marketing programs it runs on their behalf.

Professional Services: The company's professional services include software applications, such as account opening and lending for financial institution clients, which enable them to acqu

ANALYSIS FEATURES

SWOT Analysis

SWOT, which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats, is an analytical framework that identifies the internal and external factors that are favorable and unfavorable for a company.

Enhanced SWOT Analysis

Enhanced SWOT is a 3×3 grid that arranges strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats into one scheme:

How to use the strengths to take advantage of the opportunities?

How to use the strengths to reduce likelihood and impact of the threats?

How to overcome the weaknesses that obstruct taking advantage of the opportunities?

How to overcome the weaknesses that can make the threats a reality?

Upon answering these questions a company can develop a project plan to improve its business performance.

PESTEL Analysis

PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business to later chart its long term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do the technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?

IFE, EFE, IE Matrices

The Internal Factor Evaluation matrix (IFE matrix) is a strategic management tool helping audit or evaluate major weaknesses and strengths in a business's functional areas. In addition, IFE matrix serves as a basis for identifying and assessing relationships amongst those areas. The IFE matrix is utilised in strategy formulation.

The External Factor Evaluation matrix (EFE matrix) is a tool of strategic management that is typically utilised to assess current market conditions. It is an ideal instrument for visualising and prioritising the threats and opportunities a firm is facing.

The essential difference between the above mentioned matrices lies in the type of factors incorporated in the model; whilst the latter is engaged in internal factors, the former deals exceptionally with external factors – those exposed to social, political, economic, legal, etc. external forces.

Being a continuation of the EFE matrix and IFE matrix models, the Internal External matrix (IE matrix) rests upon an investigation of external and internal business factors integrated into one suggestive model.

Porter Five Forces Analysis

The Porter's five forces analysis studies the industry of operation and helps the company find new sources of competitive advantage. The analysis surveys an industry through five major questions:

What composes a threat of substitute products and services?

Is there a threat of new competitors entering the market?

What is the intensity of competitive rivalry?

How big is the bargaining power of buyers?

How significant is the bargaining power of suppliers?

VRIO Analysis

VRIO stands for Value, Rarity, Imitability, Organization. This analysis helps to evaluate all company's resources and capabilities and bring them together into one aggregate table that includes:

Tangible resources

Financial

Physical

Technological

Organizational

Intangible resources

Human

Innovation and Creativity

Reputation

Organizational capabilities

The result of the analysis gives a clear picture of company's competitive and economic implications, answering the questions if the resources mentioned above are:

Valuable?

Rare?

Costly to imitate?

Organized properly?
