About ROK Entertainment Group, Inc.

ROK Entertainment Group, Inc. sells content, products, applications and services to carriers, handset manufacturers and end users worldwide. The company has developed its own software applications and provides a worldwide multimedia platform which includes the streaming of live TV, audio and video-on-demand services on wireless devices.

Products and Services

The company's products and services can principally be broken down into three categories: ROK TV, FreeBeTV and News On Demand - Mobile Streaming Video; mobile applications and software; and hardware sales, including carriers changing to white-labeled branding rather than manufacturer branding.

ROK TV is a mobile TV application which can be white-labeled and distributed through partners or network operators. It is compatible with a range of devices from Symbian, Windows and Java handsets. ROK TV is operational as follows: U.S. - ROK own brand; U.K. - ROK own brand, ROK Mobile, and Rhythm TV; Turkey – MobilTurk; Germany – Mobilturk; Thailand – AIS; Pakistan – Telenor; South Africa – Vodacom; Europe - Nokia (E-series handsets); India – BSNL; and China - ROK New Net.

FreebeTV (on both mobile and PC) is a streaming service designed to be advertisement supported rather than subscription led. For mobile, instead of using an application, it uses the handset's native media player. The company encodes, supplies, and distributes the channels/content from its servers and manages the content on offer. The FreebeTV customers are: U.S. - ROK own brand, Nokia Video Centre, YuuZoo (PC player only); U.K. - ROK own brand; and Brazil - ROK own brand.

News On Demand is a push service designed for the user who wants regular updates without having to remember to access the service. Users subscribe to a list of channel genres such as news, weather, sports and entertainment and receive updates through MMS or email, direct to their mobile.

The product is being actively sold to all existing ROK TV customers as a value added service. The company has developed a number of mobile applications and software. The following have been launched or are in final testing prior to deployment:

ROK Comics allows users to subscribe and download branded comics specifically formatted for mobile viewing. In addition ROK Comics also allows users to create their own comics which they upload for publishing, and for others to view. Professional publishing tools are provided for licensors to publish their own material.

ANSA is a question-and-answer service available to all mobile handsets. The service is fully developed and live in the United States, United Kingdom, Pakistan and South Africa and available as an SMS text service, WAP service and Symbian application. Run as an own-brand and/or white-label service, the user simply types in the question and within a few minutes receives the answer from one of its call center operatives.

BluBox, in simplistic terms, is an image compression program for digital photos. The application allows the user to quickly compress and decompress digital photos so they can be emailed, uploaded and stored.

PowerPressed is designed to work directly with Microsoft's PowerPoint presentations. PowerPressed offers a solution to the storing and sending of large PowerPoint documents. PowerPressed optimizes and compresses PowerPoint presentations, reducing the size so they can be emailed, transferred and stored more efficiently. There is no zip/unzip process and no need for the recipient to have the software.

Fonepark is a content delivery platform designed to make every PC user into a mobile content distributor and sales site. Each user can customize their web/WAP site with their own favorites and content themed to their interests.

ROK Hard is primarily involved in the sourcing, transport and distribution of hardware including primarily, but not exclusively, mobile handsets to retail outlets, both independent and mobile network operator-tied, in the United Kingdom and elsewhere. As part of the distribution of handsets, this business unit is involved in the cross-sale of the range of its products, applications and services to handset and hardware manufacturers and retailers.

ANALYSIS FEATURES

SWOT Analysis

SWOT, which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats, is an analytical framework that identifies the internal and external factors that are favorable and unfavorable for a company.

Enhanced SWOT Analysis

Enhanced SWOT is a 3x3 grid that arranges strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats into one scheme:

How to use the strengths to take advantage of the opportunities?

How to use the strengths to reduce likelihood and impact of the threats?

How to overcome the weaknesses that obstruct taking advantage of the opportunities?

How to overcome the weaknesses that can make the threats a reality?

Upon answering these questions a company can develop a project plan to improve its business performance.

PESTEL Analysis

PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business to later chart its long term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do the technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?

IFE, EFE, IE Matrices

The Internal Factor Evaluation matrix (IFE matrix) is a strategic management tool helping audit or evaluate major weaknesses and strengths in a business's functional areas. In addition, IFE matrix serves as a basis for identifying and assessing relationships amongst those areas. The IFE matrix is utilised in strategy formulation.

The External Factor Evaluation matrix (EFE matrix) is a tool of strategic management that is typically utilised to assess current market conditions. It is an ideal instrument for visualising and prioritising the threats and opportunities a firm is facing.

The essential difference between the above mentioned matrices lies in the type of factors incorporated in the model; whilst the latter is engaged in internal factors, the former deals exceptionally with external factors – those exposed to social, political, economic, legal, etc. external forces.

Being a continuation of the EFE matrix and IFE matrix models, the Internal External matrix (IE matrix) rests upon an investigation of external and internal business factors integrated into one suggestive model.

Porter Five Forces Analysis

The Porter's five forces analysis studies the industry of operation and helps the company find new sources of competitive advantage. The analysis surveys an industry through five major questions:

What composes a threat of substitute products and services?

Is there a threat of new competitors entering the market?

What is the intensity of competitive rivalry?

How big is the bargaining power of buyers?

How significant is the bargaining power of suppliers?

VRIO Analysis

VRIO stands for Value, Rarity, Imitability, Organization. This analysis helps to evaluate all company's resources and capabilities and bring them together into one aggregate table that includes:

Tangible resources

Financial

Physical

Technological

Organizational

Intangible resources

Human

Innovation and Creativity

Reputation

Organizational capabilities

The result of the analysis gives a clear picture of company's competitive and economic implications, answering the questions if the resources mentioned above are:

Valuable?

Rare?

Costly to imitate?

Organized properly?
