PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business in South Korea to later chart its long-term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by South Korea PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by South Korea political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures in South Korea are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects of South Korea will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do South Korea technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What South Korea laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?
