About Terremark Worldwide, Inc.

Terremark Worldwide, Inc. provides managed IT solutions with data centers in the United States, Europe, and Latin America. The company provides carrier neutral colocation, managed services, and exchange point services. As a carrier neutral provider the company has approximately 160 carriers connected to its data centers.

Products and Services

The company's primary products and services include colocation, managed services, and exchange point services.

Colocation

The company's colocation services provide clients with the space and power to deploy computing, network, storage and IT infrastructure in its data centers. Through various redundant subsystems, including power, fiber, and satellite connections, the company provides its customers with service level agreements (SLAs) for power and environmental systems. The company's colocation solutions allow its customers to upgrade space, connectivity, and services as their requirements evolve. The company provides the following colocation services:

Space and Power: This service provides space and power to its clients to deploy their own computing, networking, and IT infrastructure. Customers can choose individual cabinets or a secure cage depending on their space and security requirements.

Sensitive Compartmented Information Facility (SCIF) Services: A service used by the federal sector that includes the buildout and management of a colocation facility, including extraordinary security safeguards meeting Director of Central Intelligence Directive (DCID) 6/9 Physical Security Standards for SCIF facilities. Facilities meeting DCID 6/9 standards may be utilized for mission-critical federal infrastructure, including colocation, network services, managed hosting, and security services delivered by its wholly owned federal subsidiary, Terremark Federal Group, Inc.

Remote Hands/Smart Hands: Remote Hands service performs functions to customers' equipment upon request, while Smart Hands service offers clients remote assistance using industry-certified engineers to install and maintain complex network environments.

Managed Services

The company designs, deploys, operates, monitors, and manages its clients' IT infrastructure at its facilities. Its customers sign long-term contracts and are billed on a monthly basis, in advance, to use these applications. The division comprises four subdivisions — managed hosting services, managed network services, managed security/data infrastructure services, and equipment/other. The key managed services the company provides consist of:

Managed Hosting Services: The company offers managed hosting services, in which it houses, serves, and maintains data environments for various computing environments. These environments can include Web sites, enterprise resource planning (ERP) tools, and databases. The company provides managed hosting services on dedicated or virtualized servers located within its facilities. The company offers the following managed hosting services to its customers:

Managed Hosting: The company provides a suite of hosting services, built around an application-centric philosophy, with application-level deep monitoring, return-to-service and code troubleshooting services.

Enterprise Cloud: The Enterprise Cloud service allows its customers to control a pool of processing, storage and networking resources that allow them to deploy server capacity on demand instead of investing in their own infrastructure.

Managed Network Services: The company provides the following managed network services to its customers:

Managed NOC Services: The company provides immediate response, customer network monitoring and management, and vendor support management.

Managed Routing Service: The company provides managed access to the telecommunication backbones of the world's carriers. The facilities are complete with redundant systems and infrastructure.

Managed Satellite Services: The company provides monitoring and management, vendor support management, spectrum management, and on-demand move/add/change.

Equipment/Other: This consists primarily of services the company provides to procure and install equipment utili

ANALYSIS FEATURES

SWOT Analysis

SWOT, which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats, is an analytical framework that identifies the internal and external factors that are favorable and unfavorable for a company.

Enhanced SWOT Analysis

Enhanced SWOT is a 3x3 grid that arranges strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats into one scheme:

How to use the strengths to take advantage of the opportunities?

How to use the strengths to reduce likelihood and impact of the threats?

How to overcome the weaknesses that obstruct taking advantage of the opportunities?

How to overcome the weaknesses that can make the threats a reality?

Upon answering these questions a company can develop a project plan to improve its business performance.

PESTEL Analysis

PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business to later chart its long term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do the technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?

IFE, EFE, IE Matrices

The Internal Factor Evaluation matrix (IFE matrix) is a strategic management tool helping audit or evaluate major weaknesses and strengths in a business's functional areas. In addition, IFE matrix serves as a basis for identifying and assessing relationships amongst those areas. The IFE matrix is utilised in strategy formulation.

The External Factor Evaluation matrix (EFE matrix) is a tool of strategic management that is typically utilised to assess current market conditions. It is an ideal instrument for visualising and prioritising the threats and opportunities a firm is facing.

The essential difference between the above mentioned matrices lies in the type of factors incorporated in the model; whilst the latter is engaged in internal factors, the former deals exceptionally with external factors – those exposed to social, political, economic, legal, etc. external forces.

Being a continuation of the EFE matrix and IFE matrix models, the Internal External matrix (IE matrix) rests upon an investigation of external and internal business factors integrated into one suggestive model.

Porter Five Forces Analysis

The Porter's five forces analysis studies the industry of operation and helps the company find new sources of competitive advantage. The analysis surveys an industry through five major questions:

What composes a threat of substitute products and services?

Is there a threat of new competitors entering the market?

What is the intensity of competitive rivalry?

How big is the bargaining power of buyers?

How significant is the bargaining power of suppliers?

VRIO Analysis

VRIO stands for Value, Rarity, Imitability, Organization. This analysis helps to evaluate all company's resources and capabilities and bring them together into one aggregate table that includes:

Tangible resources

Financial

Physical

Technological

Organizational

Intangible resources

Human

Innovation and Creativity

Reputation

Organizational capabilities

The result of the analysis gives a clear picture of company's competitive and economic implications, answering the questions if the resources mentioned above are:

Valuable?

Rare?

Costly to imitate?

Organized properly?
