About Thomas Group, Inc.

Thomas Group, Inc., a professional services company, engages in the execution and implementation of process improvements and culture change management operations strategies.

Through the company's proprietary Process Value Management (PVM), methodology, its consultants refine processes throughout an organization. Process Value Management is the company's proprietary methodology to identify, prioritize, and quantify the amount and timing of cross-functional business improvement opportunities.

The company is organized into various practices. These practices, which focus marketing activities into client industry sectors include aerospace and defense contractors; government (including all branches of the U.S. military); healthcare; and transportation and logistics.

Culture and Change Management

The company's services in this area involve changing basic values, norms, and beliefs among stakeholders to change organizational performance. Its culture change consultants use a proprietary methodology to allow the organization to determine if a barrier is related to a certain subject matter, process, or cultural position. Once identified, the company assists the organization by using the techniques of Process Value Management to implement the changes and new behaviors required throughout the change management process and implementation plan.

Finance and Administration

The company assists companies to redefine the role of finance and administration and transform it from a backward-looking organization to one that is future-oriented and focused on providing value through deeper analysis and insight.

The company uses Process Value Management to focus clients' finance and administration functions more on integrating processes within the organization and extended through its outside network of key partners, suppliers, and customers.

Operations

The company provides services designed to improve its clients' operational processes to transform raw materials, labor and capital into finished goods and services. By employing its Process Value Management methodology, the company helps its clients improve their operations management throughout their organization by focusing on supply chain strategy, processes, and supporting systems.

Supply Chain Management

The company provides solutions and services that improve clients' ability to manage their supply chain. The process includes all internal functions, the logistics, distribution, sourcing, customer service, sales, manufacturing, and finance departments of an organization. It also involves external suppliers that provide finished products, components, parts and assemblies, and their delivery.

Customers

The company's customers include commercial or government enterprises in North America, Europe, South America and Asia. During 2009, its main clients included Carl Zeiss Vision International GmbH, Amtrak, Mantech (U.S. Navy), and Boston Scientific.

Competition
