About XO Holdings, Inc.

XO Holdings, Inc. operates as a facilities-based, competitive telecommunications services provider that delivers telecommunications solutions to the telecommunications provider, business and government markets.

Service Offerings

The company uses its nationwide IP network, local metropolitan networks and broadband wireless facilities to offer a portfolio of services. Its services are aggregated into two categories, Core and Legacy/TDM. XOH's Core Services include products using next generation IP technologies and transport services.

Broadband Services: These services include IP Flex, Dedicated Internet Access (DIA), Carrier VoIP origination and termination, ethernet, and other IP-based solutions, as well as data services, including Dedicated Private Line, Telco Collocation and Multi-Transport Networking (MTNS). Also included in this category is its MPLS IP-VPN service that allows its multi-location customers to connect their sites. MPLS IP-VPN service is a fully managed converged voice and data network service with features for application traffic prioritization by class of service for router management and for applications performance management. In addition, it offers universal site-to-site connectivity, a broader selection of access options and no rigid limits on bandwidth. Customers can select class of service options to prioritize their network traffic.

XOH provides private line transport services (private line) point-to-point connectivity. The company's Dedicated Private Line service provides special access and point-to-point circuits to customers, for their use as both primary and back-up circuits. This service supports various transmission protocols, including ATM, Frame Relay, and Synchronous Optical Network. In addition, XOH's facilities-based network allows the company to offer data and telecommunications equipment collocation in various facilities across the United States.

XOH offers various solutions for DIA, from traditional 1.5 Mbps T1 services to mid-band ethernet Internet access approximately 10 Mbps to high speed optical Internet access at speeds approximately 10 Gbps. A suite of ethernet transport services, including Gigabit Ethernet (GigE), as well as inter-city ethernet services at 10 Mbps, 100 Mbps, 1 Gbps, and 10 Gbps between markets is available on both its fiber network and through fixed wireless capabilities. XOH offers a portfolio of converged and VoIP services, including integrated bundles, Session Initiation Protocol (SIP) service, and VoIP origination and termination solutions. Converged solutions allow voice and data traffic to transverse the same circuit, treating voice services as another IP application. XO SIP Service provides a native IP connection to the newest generation of IP-based PBXs. IP Flex provides a VoIP solution for customers who want to keep their existing phone equipment.

Integrated/Voice Services XOH provides a portfolio of integrated and voice services for business and carrier customers. This portfolio includes traditional local and long distance services, such as PRI and its wholesale carrier long distance, Carrier Long Distance Termination (CLDT), as well as integrated voice and data services, such as XOptions and Integrated Access.

Fixed Wireless Services: XOH offers wireless backhaul, network extensions, network redundancy and services using broadband radio signals transmitted between points of presence located within line-of-sight (LOS).

Managed Services: XOH managed services provide network, equipment and professional services as an integrated solution for customers through its XO One managed IP-enabled PBX (iPBX) offerings. The offer includes iPBX installed and managed at its customers' premises that allows customers with single or multiple locations to outsource the deployment and management of their premise-based IP systems. XOH also offers network-based Interactive Voice Response, (IVR) services that provide custom-designed voice response systems.

XOH's Legacy/TDM services are predominantly deployed using TDM and circuit switched voice technologies.

ANALYSIS FEATURES

SWOT Analysis

SWOT, which stands for Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats, is an analytical framework that identifies the internal and external factors that are favorable and unfavorable for a company.

Enhanced SWOT Analysis

Enhanced SWOT is a 3x3 grid that arranges strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats into one scheme:

How to use the strengths to take advantage of the opportunities?

How to use the strengths to reduce likelihood and impact of the threats?

How to overcome the weaknesses that obstruct taking advantage of the opportunities?

How to overcome the weaknesses that can make the threats a reality?

Upon answering these questions a company can develop a project plan to improve its business performance.

PESTEL Analysis

PESTEL (also termed as PESTLE) is an ideal tool to strategically analyze what influence different outside factors – political, economic, sociocultural, technological, environmental and legal – exert on a business to later chart its long term targets.

Being part of the external analysis when carrying out a strategic assessment or performing a market study, PESTEL gives an overview of diverse macro-environmental factors that any company should thoughtfully consider. By perceiving these outside environments, businesses can maximally benefit from the opportunities while minimizing the threats to the organization.

Key Factors Examined by PESTEL Analysis:

Political – What opportunities and pressures are brought by political bodies and what is the degree of public regulations' impact on the business?

Economic – What economic policies, trends and structures are expected to affect the organization, what is this influence's degree?

Sociological – What cultural and societal aspects will work upon the demand for the business's products and operations?

Technological – What impact do the technological aspects, innovations, incentives and barriers have on the organization?

Environmental – What environmental and ecological facets, both locally and farther afield, are likely to predetermine the business?

Legal – What laws and legislation will exert influence on the style the business is carried out?

IFE, EFE, IE Matrices

The Internal Factor Evaluation matrix (IFE matrix) is a strategic management tool helping audit or evaluate major weaknesses and strengths in a business's functional areas. In addition, IFE matrix serves as a basis for identifying and assessing relationships amongst those areas. The IFE matrix is utilised in strategy formulation.

The External Factor Evaluation matrix (EFE matrix) is a tool of strategic management that is typically utilised to assess current market conditions. It is an ideal instrument for visualising and prioritising the threats and opportunities a firm is facing.

The essential difference between the above mentioned matrices lies in the type of factors incorporated in the model; whilst the latter is engaged in internal factors, the former deals exceptionally with external factors – those exposed to social, political, economic, legal, etc. external forces.

Being a continuation of the EFE matrix and IFE matrix models, the Internal External matrix (IE matrix) rests upon an investigation of external and internal business factors integrated into one suggestive model.

Porter Five Forces Analysis

The Porter's five forces analysis studies the industry of operation and helps the company find new sources of competitive advantage. The analysis surveys an industry through five major questions:

What composes a threat of substitute products and services?

Is there a threat of new competitors entering the market?

What is the intensity of competitive rivalry?

How big is the bargaining power of buyers?

How significant is the bargaining power of suppliers?

VRIO Analysis

VRIO stands for Value, Rarity, Imitability, Organization. This analysis helps to evaluate all company's resources and capabilities and bring them together into one aggregate table that includes:

Tangible resources

Financial

Physical

Technological

Organizational

Intangible resources

Human

Innovation and Creativity

Reputation

Organizational capabilities

The result of the analysis gives a clear picture of company's competitive and economic implications, answering the questions if the resources mentioned above are:

Valuable?

Rare?

Costly to imitate?

Organized properly?
