Abstracts

The global cancer burden is estimated to have risen to 18.1 million new cases and 9.6 million deaths in 2018. One in 5 men and one in 6 women worldwide develop cancer during their lifetime, and one in 8 men and one in 11 women die from the disease. The five-year survival rate is estimated to be 43.8 million.

The proportions of cancer deaths in Asia (57.3%) are higher than the proportions of incident cases (48.4%), because APAC compared to US and Europe, has a higher frequency of certain cancer types associated with poorer prognosis and higher mortality rates, in addition to limited access to timely diagnosis and treatment in many countries.

The market is expected to grow to 35.50 Billion USD by 2025 growing at a CAGR of 12.57%, globally. Screening and profiling sub segment are expected to have the highest market share. The report gives insights on the screening technologies, regulations and deep dives into areas such as companion diagnostics, type of sample used, end user, etc.
