Abstracts

Global Abaca Fiber Market is valued approximately at USD 420.9 Million in 2020 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 15.1% over the forecast period 2021-2027. Abaca fiber is a vegetable leaf fiber extracted from the plant's leaf stalks. Adoption of this fiber is increasing due to its low elongation, high strength and resistance to saltwater decomposition as compared to sisal fibers and synthetic fibers. Rising demand for natural fibers in automotive industry, wide use of abaca in industries such as fiber craft, paper and pulp and cordage and growing use in manufacturing of clothing, curtains and other textile products are fueling growth in abaca fiber market. For instance, according to Statista, global paper and pulp market is expected to reach USD 370 billion by 2027 from USD 348.43 billion in 2019. Furthermore, rising abaca production and growing export are expected to inject growth during forecast period. According to Statista, production volume of abaca in Philippines went up from 65000 metric tons in 2013 to 72200 metric tons in 2019. However, gap in supply and demand is expected to hamper growth in coming years.

Asia Pacific is dominating the world market in terms of revenue among Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Rest of the World, and is also expected to grow with the highest growth rate during forecast period. Factors attributed to growth are growing adoption in various end-use industries such as automotive, textile, handicraft and others and presence of major abaca producing regions such as Philippines.
