Actigraphy sensors communicate flags and examine body developments just as rest related exercises progressively Expanding commonness of sleep deprivation, expanded mindfulness in regards to different treatment choices accessible for restless patients, and wide accessibility of the concerned gadgets are the critical drivers for the market development. Aetna Inc., an American healthcare company, was recently acquired by CVS Health Corporation, which is also an American retail pharmacy and health care company, for approximately US$ 78 billion. The combined company aims to offer powerful health resources and advanced connected medical devices to gain momentum in the health care industry .Continuing its acquisition spree, ResMed Inc: a California-based medical equipment company – purchased MatrixCare, a Minnesota-based Long-Term Care EHR Software Solution for US$ 750 million and Propeller Health, a digital therapeutics company, for approximately US$ 225 million in 2018. With these acquisitions, the company is focusing on strengthening its out-of-hospital software and healthcare solutions segment to grow strong in the actigraphy sensor and PSG devices market in coming future .However, Product type recalls and failures impedes the growth of the market over the forecast period of 2021-2027. Also, increasing prevalence of sleep disorders is likely to increase the market growth during the forecast period.
