Abstracts

Global Biofungicides Market is valued approximately USD 1.4 billion in 2019 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 16.1 % over the forecast period 2020-2027. Biofungicides are fungicides which contain a microorganism as the active ingredient and is used to control the spread of fungal pathogens in crops. It is also used as a pest-control in the cultivation of fruits & vegetables, cereals, grains, oilseeds & pulses. The global Biofungicides market is facing challenges due to the coronavirus pandemic which is disrupting some activities in agriculture and supply chains. However, Government of various countries are taking several steps to respond the crisis. For instance: The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has also announced the “burden of debt servicing” due to COVID-19 pandemic. Agricultural term and crop loans have been granted a moratorium of three months (till May 31) by banking institutions with 3% concession on the interest rate of crop loans up to INR 300,000 (USD 39367.50) for borrowers. Moreover, the regulatory pressures and harmful effects associated with the use of synthetic plant protectants, growing emphasis on integrated pest management solutions and rising preference for organic products to encourage the adoption of biological products are the factors responsible for the growth of the market over the forecast period. For Instance: as per Statista, the global sale of organic food was USD 18 billion in 2000 and has risen by USD 95 billion in 2018. However, technological limitations for the use of biological products and need for frequent reapplications of biofungicides as compared to its chemical counterparts is the major factor restraining the growth of global Biofungicides market during the forecast period.

The regional analysis of global Biofungicides Market is considered for the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World. North America is the leading/significant region across the world in terms of market share owing to the increasing use of integrated pest management solutions has lead the growth of the market. Whereas, Asia-Pacific is also anticipated to exhibit highest growth rate / CAGR over the forecast period 2020-2027.
