Abstracts

Global Brewer's yeast Market is valued at approximately USD XXX billion in 2021 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than XX% over the forecast period 2022-2028. Brewer's yeast is the side product of the brewing process. In the food industry, it is used as a flavor enhancer for poultry, ruminants, fish, and farm animals. Brewer's yeast, which is more commonly extracted from large breweries, is used in animal feed as a protein source. Rising application of brewer's yeast in the additives industry and increasing demand for dairy products, over the world, are factors contributing to the market growth. For instance: according to Statista, the value of the dairy market is expected to go to USD 1,032 Billion by the year 2024 from USD 720 Billion, in the year 2019. However, increasing number of people having yeast allergies and increasing health complications due to overconsumption of dairy products impede the growth of the market over the forecast period of 2022-2028. Also, increasing disposable income and changing consumer preferences toward health are likely to increase the growth of the market in the forecasting period.

The regional analysis of global Brewer's yeast market includes Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World for analysis and estimation. North America is the leading region across the world in terms of market share owing to high animal feed production. Whereas, Asia-Pacific is also anticipated to exhibit the highest growth rate over the forecast period 2022-2028. Factors such as rising consumption of dairy products would create lucrative growth prospects for the brewer's yeast market across Asia-Pacific region.
