Abstracts

Global Bulk Bags Market is valued approximately USD 64.28 billion in 2020 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 5.70% over the forecast period 2021-2027. Bulk Bags are non-woven jumbo bags made from woven polypropylene fabric. Weather resistance, high durability, safety convenience carriage, heat resistance, stretchable material, no shrinking, and capacity for mass quantity carrier are all characteristics of bulk bags. Bulk bags are designed to be used for both transportation and storage. They are a rare combination of being both environmentally friendly and cost-effective. The ease of carriage and efficiency with which bulk material can be moved from one location to another is one of the major factors driving the growth of the global bulk bag market. The chemical industry is expected to dominate the global bulk bag market among the various end use industries that use bulk bags or FIBCs. With the increasing use of bulk bags in agricultural, industrial, and pharmaceutical industries, the demand for bulk bags has increased in industries such as food, fertilisers, chemicals, construction, mining, and others. Many businesses have expressed an interest in investing in the expansion of the bulk bag market. However, some issues such as diminishing demand for bulk bags made of PVC materials and increased preference for small-sized, sealable packaging options such as self-seal bags or pouches are likely to notably hamper the global bulk bags market's growth in the near future. Bulk bags are also a highly viable packaging solution due to their cost-effectiveness and recyclability, which boosts market growth.

North America is expected to account for the largest share of the bulk bag market, with a significant CAGR over the forecasted time period. This geographic supremacy can be attributed to the province's closeness to comprehensive manufacturing businesses.
