Abstracts

Global Cellulite Treatment Market is valued approximately USD 1.25 billion in 2021 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 11.3% over the forecast period 2022-2029. Cellulite Treatment is treatments combine massage, liposuction, or light therapy. Fat can be liquefied, connective tissue can be sliced to loosen puckering, collagen formation and skin tightening can be boosted, blood flow can be increased, and fluid retention can be reduced. The Cellulite Treatment Market is expanding because of factors such as rising prevalence of obesity, and rising geriatric population. Escalating aesthetic appeal and fitness awareness among youth, leading to an upsurge in demand for cosmetic procedures, may propel the industry forecast over the projected timeframe.

According to WHO, around 39 million children under the age of five were fat or overweight in 2020, . Furthermore, geriatric, and obese populations are more inclined to adopt their cellulite treatment. According to the World Bank Group, the world old population was 727 million in 2020, and it is predicted to treble over the next three decades, reaching 1.5 billion in 2050. Another important component driving is rising demand for non-invasive or minimally invasive surgeries and rising popularity of social media. However, the high cost of Cellulite Treatment stifles market growth throughout the forecast period of 2022-2029.

The key regions considered for the Global Cellulite Treatment Market study includes Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Rest of the World. Among these region, North America hold the largest share owing to significant concentration of highly qualified people, cutting-edge technologies, and encouraging government programs, Furthermore, Asia Pacific accounts for fastest growing due to factors including rising geriatric and target populations, rising disposable income, and rising obesity rates in the region. The bulk of the nations in this region are emerging ones that are embracing modern technology quickly.
