Abstracts

Global Container Homes Market is valued approximately at USD 47.76 billion in 2018 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 6.70% over the forecast period 2019-2026. Container homes are homes developed using shipping containers used to carry goods on trains, truck, and ships. These houses can be built using both new or idle containers and old or scrap containers. This container houses are considered as environment friendly homes as these homes are made from used containers, which reduces the use of metal. Also, the container homes are very small in size and can be moved easily from one place to other. Growing technological advancements that have reduced the cost & time required for construction, surging government initiative towards affordable building projects, along with simplifying the process of installation & relocation are the few factors responsible for high CAGR of the market over the forecast period. For instance, In 2018, the federal government granted $10 million to build eight new affordable housing projects across rural Alberta out of shipping containers. This project is aimed at using repurposed shipping containers to build houses. However, high possibility of corrosion, shorter lifespan and increased investment required on heating & cooling systems are the major factors restraining the growth of global container homes market during the forecast period. Moreover, the dearth of housing units along with growing need for construction in emerging economies is expected to provide lucrative growth opportunities to the market growth over the forecast period.

The regional analysis of global Container Homes Market is considered for the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World. North America is the leading/significant region across the world in terms of market share owing to the growing government programs towards affordable housing structure, along with rising awareness towards environment friendly homes in the region. However, Asia-Pacific is anticipated to exhibit highest growth rate / CAGR over the forecast period due to the rapid urbanization, excellent economic growth, and less time & cost required for construction of container homes across the region.
