Abstracts

Global Convergent BillingMarket is valued approximately USD XX billion in 2020 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 22.2% over the forecast period 2021-2027. Convergent billing allows all invoicing tasks to be consolidated in one place, resulting in more accountability in the billing process. It offers a solid comprehensive perspective of the consumer, which aids in the creation of combining and discounting products with the consumer in mind. Mostly with global rollout of 5G networks, the demand for convergent billing solutions is growing, providing more chances for technology solutions to get into the industry. In London, for example, Huawei, in February 2020 announced the launch of Convergent Billing System (CBS) R20, the company's first-ever 5G SA network-based monetizing platform. The service already has been implemented on the etc. Kuwait 5G SA infrastructure, with "Dedicated Access" being offered to businesses with assured SLAs (SLAs). Telecoms are placing a larger focus on packaged solutions, adaptable discounting policies, bridge marketing, and an aggravation client experience as technology improvements merge. Convergent billing systems are becoming more prevalent as a result. Another element driving market expansion is the introduction of new products. October 2020 - SAP released SAP Convergent Charging 2020 FPS, a UX makeover that uses the SAP Fiori user experience design to provide clients with a best-in-class, consistent, and modern user experience. They've now given pricing professionals the long-awaited option to easily construct fundamental rate plans, including consumption and recurring charges, using a top-down approach. However, this industry is constrained by the continued use of old technologies that are unsuitable with today's converged networks. Also, CSPs are banding together to address this issue by investing in new infrastructure and working with over-the-top service providers. Spending on OSS, BSS, and NG SDP solutions is quickly expanding around the world, propelling the convergent billing market forward.

For its technological superiority, the Convergent Billing Market is projected to be dominated by the North American area. The technology landscape in numerous businesses is rapidly changing, resulting in an increase in demand for linked devices. In the region, customer relationship management is also gaining traction. The increasing digitalization of businesses across industrial verticals, as well as the use of cloud technologies and diverse service models, are driving this trend. APAC accounts for the largest portion of this marketplace. The presence of nations such as India and China, both of which have significant subscription bases and a constantly changing regulatory and market environment, has increased the potential for convergent billing solutions in Asia.
