Abstracts

Global Corporate E-Learning Market is valued approximately at USD XXX billion in 2019 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than XX % over the forecast period 2020-2027. E-learning denotes to a learning system built on formalized teaching by electronic resources. It is a network-enabled transfer of knowledge to a large number of recipients at the same time. E-Learning permits business executives to learn from almost any place with a computer or mobile device & internet connection. It allows employees to gain knowledge and skills to commence a specific operation that will help an organization to continue to operate efficiently. For Instance: As per Research Institute of America, e-learning increases the retention rates of training by 25 to 60% as compared to face to face training which has a low retention rate of 8 to 10%. Increasing adoption of Corporate E-Learning among various organizations across the globe is the major factor driving the market growth. As per IBM, investment of one dollar in online training results in a return of 30 dollar in productivity. E-learning facilitates reduction of HR cost by automation of on-board training and recruitment processes..

However, the intrinsic freedom might decrease the employee's concentration and discipline towards the learning which is the major challenge the market. However, impedes the growth of the market over the forecast period of 2020-2027.

The regional analysis of global Corporate E-Learning market is considered for the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World. North America is the leading/significant region across the world in terms of market share owing to advanced technological infrastructure in the region coupled with availability of fast internet connection. Whereas, Asia-Pacific is also anticipated to exhibit highest growth rate / CAGR over the forecast period 2020-2027. Factors such as rising disposable income and growing number of connected devices and smart phones would create lucrative growth prospects for the Corporate E-Learning market across Asia-Pacific region.
