Abstracts

Global Dehydrated Food Market is valued approximately at USD xx Billion in 2020 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than xx% over the forecast period 2021-2027. Dehydrated Food are the dried food products preserved to be consumed for a longer period of time. The global dehydrated food market is being driven by growing demand for convenience food products such as ready meals, processed food and instant food products. According to Statista, Convenience Food market size is expected to grow from USD 433 billion in 2019 to USD 585 billion by 2025. The other driving factor for the market growth is the continuous increase in e-commerce sales worldwide as these products can be transported easily and consumed by the people in remote areas as well. According to United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, e-commerce sales increased from USD 23.70 trillion in 2017 to USD 25.6 trillion in 2018 witnessing growth rate of 8%. Furthermore, expansions in global trade, increasing new product launches by food & beverages industry and growth in consumption of canned products will provide new opportunities for the global Dehydrated Food industry. However, disruption in supply chain may impede market growth over the forecast period of 2021-2027.

The regional analysis is based on the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Rest of the World for the global Dehydrated Food Market.

North America is the leading region across the world in terms of market share owing to rising consumption of shelf-stable freeze-dried products and presence of established companies in the region. Whereas Asia-Pacific is anticipated to exhibit the highest CAGR over the forecast period 2021-2027 owing to rising demand of seasonal products, favorable government initiatives to promote food processing industries and increasing product launches.
