Abstracts

Global Dental Consumables Market is valued at approximately USD 32.24 billion in 2021 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 9.5 % over the forecast period 2022-2029. Dental consumables comprised of products such as implants, prosthetics, braces, crowns, dental impression materials, and others. They are being used for the treatment of dental disorders such as tooth restoration, problems associated with gingival tissues, dental impairments, dental caries, and periodontal diseases among others. The factor leading to the increased market share of dental consumables is the rising prevalence of various dental diseases across the globe. Further, the shifting trend of consumers towards cosmetic dentistry along with the low cost of dental treatment in emerging economies tends to drive the market share of dental consumables.

Growing prevalence of dental diseases is contributing towards the growth of the Global Dental Consumables Market. For instance – as per World Health Organization (WHO) – as of 2022, around 3.5 billion people worldwide suffer due to dental diseases, also 3 out of 4 people affected belong to middle-income countries. Furthermore, an estimated 2 billion people suffer from caries of permanent teeth and 514 million children suffer from caries of primary teeth. Also, rising geriatric population has led to increasing incidences of tooth decay and dental cavities, and shifting trend towards dental tourism across various emerging economies such as India, China and Brazil, and rising demand for minimally invasive dental procedures globally would create lucrative growth prospectus for the market over the forecast period. However, reimbursement and high cost of dental services impede the market growth throughout the projected period of 2022-2029.

The regional analysis of global Dental Consumables market is considered for the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World. Europe region is expected to dominant region over the forecast period owing to the increasing geriatric population and increasing healthcare expenditure along with rising disposable income in the region. Whereas, Asia Pacific is estimated as the fastest growing region over the projected period owing to growth of healthcare infrastructure coupled with increasing incidences of dental diseases in the region.
