Abstracts

Global Dental Flap Surgery Market is valued approximately USD 4.75 Billion in 2021 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 7.0% over the forecast period 2022-2028.

During dental flap surgery, diseased gum tissue is removed from the teeth and folded back using a periodontal probe. Following the removal of tartar and disease-causing germs, the gums are sutured back in place to ensure a tight fit around the teeth. Increasing awareness of oral hygiene, rise in prevalence of periodontitis disease, number of dental surgical procedures are factors that are accelerating the global market demand. For instance, according to the estimates published by the World Health Organization (WHO) 2019, every year periodontal disease affected around 14% of the global adult population, with more than 1 billion cases worldwide. Additionally, dental tourism is expanding rapidly in developing markets, which accelerates the expansion of the entire sector. One of the key factors in overall wellbeing is oral hygiene. Therefore, the expansion of the sector is being fueled by the increased awareness of oral hygiene. Due to the cost effectiveness, accessibility of specialists, and availability of cutting-edge dental technology, this trend is anticipated to continue in the years to come. In addition, it is projected that increased demand for improved dental care will foster the growth of the dental services industry. A type of gum surgery called flap surgery is used to treat and fix periodontal pockets. However, a lack of insurance coverage policies impedes the growth of the market over the forecast period of 2022-2028.

The key regions considered for the global Dental Flap Surgery Market study include

Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and the Rest of the World. North America is the leading region across the world the main elements anticipated to spur the expansion of the regional market include preventive approaches to oral care and hygiene, the availability of private dental clinics, an increase in disposable income, and increased R&D efforts in dentistry. Whereas, Asia Pacific region is anticipated to exhibit a significant growth rate over the forecast period 2022-2028. APAC's healthcare infrastructure is expanding thanks to cutting-edge technologies and equipment. Numerous dental businesses and nations, including India and China, are launching awareness campaigns for dental care.
