Abstracts

Global Dental Syringes Market is valued approximately at USD 8.97 billion in 2022 and is anticipated to grow with a growth rate of more than 4.8% over the forecast period 2023-2030. Dental syringes are small, portable tools that are used in dentistry to inject fluids or drugs into or around the mouth cavity. Dental syringes are widely used to administer local anesthesia, irrigate dental sites, apply dental materials, or give drugs to particular parts of the mouth. Unhealthy eating habits, lack of essential vitamins, and the growing popularity of cosmetic dentistry treatments are driving the dental syringes market. Favorable government regulations, increasing dental aesthetic surgeries, and a rise in the geriatric and diabetic populations further contribute to market growth. The prevalence of oral diseases and growing awareness about oral health also have a positive impact on the dental syringes market.

Unhealthy eating habits and insufficient vitamin intake contribute significantly to the increasing prevalence of dental and oral diseases, which acts as a key driver for market growth. According to the World Health Organization (WHO) in March 2022, globally, about 3.5 billion individuals are impacted by oral illnesses. Another common condition is severe periodontal (gum) disease, which affects roughly 10% of the world's population and can lead to tooth loss. Additionally, 530 million children globally suffer from dental caries of their primary teeth, and 2.3 billion people worldwide suffer from dental caries of their permanent teeth. Additionally, technological advancements and product innovations extends profitable opportunity to the dental syringes market. However, shortage of expert dental specialists stifles the market growth throughout the forecast period of 2023-2030.

The key regions considered for the Global Dental Syringes Market study includes Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Middle East & Africa. North America dominated the market in 2022 owing to the increasing number of dental disorders, rising spending on healthcare, and the presence of important players in the area. According to the American Dental Association (ADA) in 2021, there is 201,117 dentists practising dentistry in the US as of 2020, or 61.04 dentists for every 100,000 citizens. Additionally, according to the Journal of Dental Research in 2020, 65 million people in the United States—or nearly 47% of the population—had periodontitis, with 9% having mild disease, 30% having intermediate disease, and 8.5% having severe disease. Asia Pacific is expected to grow significantly during the forecast period, owing to growing medical tourism, improved healthcare facilities, and increased consumer spending. Also, the rise in awareness among dental surgeons about advanced medical instruments is expected to drive regional demand.
