Abstracts

Global Dermatology Market is valued approximately USD XX billion in 2018 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than XX% over the forecast period 2019-2026. Dermatology is the specialized branch of medicine focusing on the skin and treatment of skin related diseases and conditions. This includes a variety of conditions, both pathological and cosmetic. An expert in the field of dermatology is dermatologist. Increasing prevalence of skin problems is one of the major factors responsible for high CAGR of the market. Growing technological advancements in dermatology devices is the factor that offers growth opportunities. Also, escalating cases of diagnosis and treatment, surging incidences of conditions such as rashes, acne, impetigo and syphilis along with rising cases of cosmetic surgeries is contributing towards growth of global Dermatology market. However, rising concerns related to side effects and lack of reimbursement coverage are the factors that anticipated to hamper the market growth during the forecast period.

The regional analysis of global Dermatology market is considered for the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World. North America is the leading/significant region across the world in terms of market share owing to increasing prevalence of skin cancer and other skin diseases and increasing disposable income of the individuals in the region. Europe contributes a satisfactory growth in the global Dermatology market during the forecast period. Asia-Pacific is also anticipated to exhibit highest growth rate / CAGR over the forecast period 2019-2026 due to growth of medical tourism across the region.
