Abstracts

Global Halal Food Market is valued at approximately USD XXX billion in 2021 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than XX % over the forecast period 2022-2028. Halal food refers to foods prepared in accordance with Islamic dietary laws and regulations, which govern what foods are allowed and clean. Consumers in the Muslim community avoid Haram foods and beverages, which are prohibited or unlawful by their Islamic faith. Halal foods are safe and do not include any non-halal or unclean components, according to Islamic principles. The growing Muslim population and increasing halal tourist trend have led to the adoption of Halal Food across the forecast period. For Instance: as per Statista in 2021, Halal meat and its alternatives currently account for over 52% of the global halal food market in 2019. By 2028, this will have only marginally decreased to 49%. Food and beverages is the main sector in the entire halal consumer industry, with a global expenditure value of approximately 1.17 billion US dollars. By 2024, the population will have risen to 1.38 billion. Also, with the growing popularity of halal dishes among non-Muslims and variety of flavours and health advantages, the adoption & demand for Halal Food is likely to increase the market growth during the forecast period. However, Halal food regulations vary from nation to nation which may impede the growth of the market over the forecast period of 2022-2028.

The key regions considered for the Global Halal Food market study include Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World. North America is the leading region across the world in terms of market share owing to the growing Muslim population and increasing halal tourist trend. Whereas, Asia-Pacific is also anticipated to exhibit the highest growth rate over the forecast period 2022-2028. Factors such as growing popularity of halal dishes among non-Muslims and variety of flavours and health advantages would create lucrative growth prospects for the Halal Food market across Asia-Pacific region.
