Abstracts

Global Hovercraft Market is valued approximately at USD 148.8 billion in 2020 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than 2.1% over the forecast period 2021-2027. Hovercrafts have become one of the most comfortable and profitable means of transportation in many countries around the world. Hovercrafts are known as air cushion vehicles, are widely employed for both military and commercial purposes. For efficient operation, hovercraft requires both propulsion and lift power. This can be accomplished in a number of ways, including the employment of propulsors like engines and lift fans. The market is driven by growing applications of hovercraft in the commercial and military sector and growing adoption for recreational purposes. In recent years, the US Navy has stated interest in newer generation hovercraft and has placed an order with Textron. The US Navy has granted Textron a contract costing USD 386 million to manufacture an extra 15 hovercrafts. The contract was granted as part of the Ship-to-Shore Connector (SSC) Program, also known as the LCAC 100 class, which is replacing a fleet of landing Craft Air Cushions (LCAC) vehicles that are approaching the end of their 30-year service life. Work on the project is now underway in New Orleans, Louisiana, and is projected to be finished in January 2025. However, Lack of lateral control and noisy operation of the vehicle, may impede market growth over the forecast period of 2021-2027.

Europe region is likely to have the fastest development during the projection period due to an improved level of life and the consequences of climate change, also, growing adoption of hovercraft from both commercial and military end-users. Transportation of products, surveillance and rescue, and support for counter-narcotics actions are all used by law enforcement and border troops in the region.
