Abstracts

Global Industrial Dust Collector Market is valued at approximately USD XX billion in 2020 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than XX % over the forecast period 2021-2027. Stringent government regulations aimed at achieving environmental compliance and rising hygiene requirements in the food industry are projected to boost market expansion. Over the projected period, the market is expected to be driven by the growing scope of application of these devices in the construction industry, rising industrial production & global economic activities, rapid infrastructure development, and an increasing number of coal power plants. In addition, several regulations, such as the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), set guidelines for air quality in the workplace. OSHA has controlled worker exposure to hexavalent chromium (metal found in the weld fumes) as it can cause major health concerns if inhaled. These rules are propelling the market forward. However high costs associated with advanced dust control systems may impede market growth over the forecast period of 2021-2027.

The regional analysis of the global Industrial Dust Collector Market is considered for the key regions such as Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America, and Rest of the World (ROW). Asia Pacific is the leading region across the world in terms of market share due rapid industrialization and a growing number of infrastructure development projects in APAC. Whereas Europe is also anticipated to exhibit the highest growth rate over the forecast period 2021-2027 due to presence of end-use industries in the region.
