Abstracts

Global Inulin Market is valued at approximately USD XXX billion in 2021 and is anticipated to grow with a healthy growth rate of more than XX % over the forecast period 2022-2028. Inulin is a type of dietary fibre known as fructans, which are naturally occurring polysaccharides generated by a number of plants. It is primarily isolated from chicory in the industrial world. Inulin is a dietary fibre that is used to investigate kidney capacity. The large level of nutritional value and increasing demand for sugar substitutes have led to the adoption of Inulin across the forecast period. For Instance: as per the World Integrated Trade Solution in 2019, Top importers of Inulin are United States ($56,399.13K, 20,109,200 Kg), Mexico ($19,429.07K), Italy ($14,583.43K, 5,575,300 Kg), Indonesia ($13,901.43K, 6,348,440 Kg), Germany ($10,687.28K, 3,997,200 Kg). As per the Statista in 2021, Sugar substitutes were used by 141.18 million Americans. Also, with the growing public awareness and expansion in pharmaceutical industry, the adoption & demand for Inulin is likely to increase the market growth during the forecast period. However, Inulin consumption in excess is allergic and causes stomach pain and this may impede the growth of the market over the forecast period of 2022-2028.

The key regions considered for the Global Inulin Market study include Asia Pacific, North America, Europe, Latin America and Rest of the World. Europe is the leading region across the world in terms of market share owing to the large level of nutritional value coupled with the increasing demand for sugar substitutes. Whereas, Asia-Pacific is also anticipated to exhibit the highest growth rate over the forecast period 2022-2028.

Factors such as growing public awareness and expansion in pharmaceutical industry would create lucrative growth prospects for the Inulin Market across Asia-Pacific region.
